The Children Of Dunseverick:

The Children of Dunseverick Vivienne Draper,1994 This enchanting and evocative book paints a vivid portrait of a happy childhood in 1920s Ireland The Linen Hall Review ,1984 Round the Coast of Northern Ireland Hugh Forde,1928

Genealogical and Family History of the State of Maine George Thomas Little,1909 Through the Classroom Window Janet Morris,P. Morton,1999 Spanning the 1920s and the 1930s Through the Classroom Window gives the reader a warm collection of rich memories recording experiences attitudes and emotions that are in many respects unique to a generation The death of the children of Usnach. The return of Claneboy. The captive of Killeslin Sir Samuel Ferguson,1887 Upstream John McMillan,2015-08-31 UPSTREAM is a powerful portrait of life in Britain and Ireland during the last quarter of the 20th century acutely observed by aspiring author Jim Mitchell as he and wife Bridget settle into a new life in the West Country The story centres on the married life of Jim and Bridget the births of their children and the flow of people and events around them as they make the spiritual journey upstream to the source of life and meaning against an increasingly unfeeling commercialised world where the individual has come to count less and less Seeking a Country Taura S. Napier,2001 Although there are numerous published studies of Irish literature and several women s autobiographies none has combined these areas of study Literary autobiographies of both women and men have gained popularity and scholarly attention over the last three decades especially twentieth century women s autobiographies This study identifies and examines the Irishwomen s literary autobiography and traces its development through the twentieth century The opening chapter discusses autobiographical trends prior to the present century in Ireland and charts major movements in forming the women s autobiography of the twentieth century Of particular importance are the ways in which the life stories of Irish women writers both affirm and contradict intercultural theories of women s autobiography how these writers manifest their autobiographical I as a deflected entity and the relevance of class and religious background to the autobiographical voices of women in Ireland The core discussion of the study focuses on the self narratives of Lady Augusta Gregory Katharine Tynan Mary Colum Elizabeth Bowen Kate O'Brien and Eavan Boland Irish University Review ,1994 Book Review Index ,2003 Vols 8 10 of the 1965 1984 master cumulation constitute a title index
