Performance and the Middle English Romance Linda Marie Zaerr, 2012

An examination of if and how medieval romance was performed uniquely uniting the perspective of a scholar and practitioner. Although English medieval minstrels performed gestes, a genre closely related to romance, often playing the harp or the fiddle, the question of if and how Middle English romance was performed has been hotly debated. Here the performance tradition is explored by combining textual, historical, and musicological scholarship with practical experience from a noted musician. Using previously unrecognized evidence, the author reconstructs a realistic model of minstrel performance, showing how a simple melody can interact with the text and vice versa. She argues that elements in Middle English romance which may seem simplistic or repetitive may in fact be incomplete, as missing an integral musical dimension. Metrical irregularities, for example, may be relics of sophisticated rhythmic variation that make sense only with music. Overall, the study offers both a more accurate comprehension of minstrel performance and a deeper appreciation of the romances themselves. Linda Marie Zaerr is Professor of Medieval Studies at Boise State University.
