The Mediterranean World and Man* David Attenborough, 1987 The Mountains of the Mediterranean World J. R.

McNeill, 2003-12-18 An environmental history of the mountain areas of Turkey Greece Italy Spain and Morocco The Mediterranean Region Jacques Blondel, James Aronson, Jean-Yves Bodiou, Gilles Boeuf, 2010-01-28 It is becoming clear that the Mediterranean region is one of the hottest of the biodiversity hotspots on the planet There is also an increasing concern for the conservation adaptive management and restoration of the unique natural ecosystems and cultural landscapes that characterize this area The region s biological and cultural heritage as well as its huge wealth of biodiversity is now at real risk This brings a further urgency to the task of communicating detailed but readily accessible information on the Mediterranean biota and an ecological historical and evolutionary perspective to the changing contexts in which the region s flora and fauna continue to evolve There is no other recent textbook devoted solely to Mediterranean evolutionary ecology and a synthesis of the many recent advances is now overdue This new work builds on the success and reputation of the first edition although the text has been updated and expanded to document recent changes to biodiversity new ecological and evolutionary insights and the challenges for the future These changes include the addition of two new chapters devoted to the Mediterranean Sea itself and especially the coastal areas Throughout the book the pressing issues of global change especially climate warming are addressed in conjunction with changing land use and in terms of their potential impact on biota communities ecosystems and landscapes The Physical Geography of the Mediterranean Jamie C.

Woodward, 2009-05-07 This volume explores the climates landscapes ecosystems and hazards that comprise the Mediterranean world It traces the development of the Mediterranean landscape over very long timescales and examines modern processes and key environmental issues in a wide range of settings The Mediterranean is the only region on Earth where three continents meet and this interaction has produced a very distinctive Physical Geography This book examines the landscapes and processes at the margins of these continents and the distinctive marine environment between them Catastrophic earthquakes explosive volcanic eruptions and devastating storms and floods are intimately bound up within the history and mythology of the Mediterranean world This is a key region for the study of natural hazards because it offers unrivalled access to long records of hazard occurrence and impact through documentary archaeological and geological archives The Mediterranean is also a biodiversity hotspot it has been a meeting place for plants animals and humans from three continents throughout much of its history The Quaternary records of these interactions are more varied and better preserved than in any other part of the world These records have provided important new insights into the tempo of climate landscape and ecosystem change in the Mediterranean region and beyond The region is unique because of the very early and widespread impact of humans in landscape and ecosystem change and the richness of the archaeological and geological archives that chronicle this impact This book examines this history and these interactions and places current environmental issues in long term context Contributors Ramadan Husain Abu Zied Harriet Allen Jacques Blondel Maria Carmen Llasat James Casford Marc Castellnou Andrew Goudie Andrew Harding Angela Hayes Tom Holt Babette Hoogakker Philip Hughes Jos Lelieveld John Lewin Francisco Lloret Francisco Lopez Bermudez Mark Macklin Jean Margat Anne Mather Fr d ric M dail Christophe Morhange Clive Oppenheimer JeanPalutikof Gerassimos Papadopoulos Josep Pi ol David Pyle Jane Reed Neil Roberts Eelco Rohling Iain Stewart Stathis Stiros John Thornes Chronis Tzedakis John Wainwright Forests Robert Pogue Harrison,2024-05-31 In this wide ranging exploration of the role of forests in Western thought Robert Pogue Harrison enriches our understanding not only of the forest s place in the cultural imagination of the West but also of the ecological dilemmas that now confront us so urgently Consistently insightful and beautifully written this work is especially compelling at a time when the forest as a source of wonder respect and meaning disappears daily from the earth Forests is one of the most remarkable essays on the human place in nature I have ever read and belongs on the small shelf that includes Raymond Williams masterpiece The Country and the City Elegantly conceived beautifully written and powerfully argued Forests is a model of scholarship at its passionate best No one who cares about cultural history about the human place in nature or about the future of our earthly home should miss it William Cronon Yale Review Forests is among other things a work of scholarship and one of immense value one that we have needed It can be read and reread added to and commented on for some time to come John Haines The New York Times Book Review The City and the Ocean I-Chun Wang,Jonathan White,2012-01-24 Throughout history cities have been locations of human encounter Equally they have been contexts for the trade of goods and services for the evolution of various forms of urban space and for the production development and enrichment of culture and technology Many cities grew up along shorelines which themselves constitute some of the globe s most important cultural boundaries For above all else it is water that has separated but also connected different communities races religions and nations down through recorded time With the rapid advance in technologies of communication encounters between cultures have multiplied at a rate that no individual can follow or control The present book constitutes a space of memory in its own right one of its chief raisons d tre being that a group of diverse scholars herein maps certain key encounters between peoples past as well as present and the urgent issues generated in consequence No one person could have traced such diversity and made sense of it whereas a scholarly grouping of persons reporting on phenomena from around the world such as is provided here offers its readers a vision of global change and development With the twentieth and twenty first centuries a new set of mega cities in Asia Africa and Latin America has emerged to challenge the primacy of European and North American metropolitan centres This expanded landscape is here interpreted with special attention as already mentioned to cities located at coastlines hence generally speaking more exposed to globalizing trends Migrants exiles and refugees ethnic and racial minorities as well as alternative or countercultural groupings continue to complicate the ways in which cities articulate their now pluralized identities in terms of and by means of literature history architecture social events and other forms of artistic and cultural production The international scholars whose work is assembled in these pages are well placed to engage with the intersecting themes and issues of the volume Contributors have mapped different examples from Homeric narrative through Renaissance drama and its representation of crossways of culture such as Rhodes and Malta to an earlier time in the development of a New World city such as Boston others look at the twentieth and twenty first centuries complexity of great world cities and of oceanic migration or trade between them Shanghai Singapore London Detroit Shantou Macau and Saigon are some that are dealt with in detail Emphasis falls on both the historical reality of those contexts as well as how they have been culturally represented

The Final Empire Wm. H. Kötke,2007-11 In spite of its tough message there is much compassion and humanity in The Final Empire Right away as you begin to read this work you sense increasingly the grand perspective in K tke s words He is not speaking of anarchy He is offering vital common sense It s just that his meaning is so unavoidably political And so much against what we have been taught all our lives The materialistic values of civilization teach us that the accumulation of wealth is progress The material wealth of the civilization is derived from the death of the earth the soils the forests the fish stocks the free resources of flora and fauna The ultimate end of this is for all human species to live in giant parasitical cities of cement and metal while surrounded by deserts of exhausted soils The simple polar opposites are the richness and wealth of the natural life of earth versus the material wealth of people living out their lives in artificial environments This amounts to a direct challenge to humankind A demand for radical change A re envisioning of our part in the community of life and the precepts of individuality And Mr K tke provides a strong argument for this case He traces the environmental scars of civilization through the ages Empire after empire desertification of the top soil winds its way around the globe in an erosive helix from China to India to Mesopotamia to Italy to North America As radical as it may seem at first glance The Final Empire is a necessary and sensible primer for the recovery of the planet It blends a critical statistical analysis of our deteriorating environment with a positivism of hope for a post empire age and a new whole human relation to the living community of Earth Dan Armstrong Author of the Novels Prairie Fire and Taming the Dragon      The Animal Code Danny Crossman,2011 Illustrates the myriad ways in which humans exploit animals making a compelling case for people to recognise animals needs and feelings In a breakthrough concept The Animal Code sets out a clear guide for how each of us can treat animals with respect and also help our environment      On the Prowl Mark Hallett,John M. Harris,2020-06-02 Big cats such as lions tigers leopards and jaguars fascinate us like few other creatures They are enduring symbols of natural majesty and power Yet despite the magnetic appeal of the big cats their origins and evolutionary history remain poorly understood and human activity threatens to put an end to the big cats glory On the Prowl is a fully illustrated and approachable guide to the evolution of the big cats and what it portends for their conservation today Mark Hallett and John M Harris trace the origins of these iconic carnivores venturing down the evolutionary pathways that produced the diversity of big cat species that have walked the earth They place the evolution and paleobiology of these species in the context of ancient ecosystems and climates explaining what made big cats such efficient predators and analyzing their competition with other animals Hallett and Harris pay close attention to human impact from the evidence of cave paintings and analysis of ancient extinctions up to present day crises Their engaging and carefully documented account is brought to life through Hallett s detailed vivid illustrations based on the most recent research by leading paleontologists Offering a fresh look at the rise of these majestic animals On the Prowl also makes a powerful case for renewed efforts to protect big cats and their habitats before it is too late      Hamburgers in Paradise Louise O. Fresco,2015-10-27 A fascinating exploration of our past present and future relationship with food For the first time in human history there is food in abundance throughout the world More people than ever before are now freed of the struggle for daily survival yet few of us are aware of how food lands on our plates Behind every meal you eat there is a story Hamburgers in Paradise explains how In this wise and passionate book Louise Fresco takes readers on an enticing cultural journey to show how science has enabled us to overcome past scarcities and why we have every reason to be optimistic about the future Using hamburgers in the Garden of Eden as a metaphor for the confusion surrounding food today she looks at everything from the dominance of supermarkets and the decrease of biodiversity to organic foods and GMOs She casts doubt on many popular claims about sustainability and takes issue with na ve rejections of globalization and the idealization of true and honest food Fresco explores topics such as agriculture in human history poverty and development and surplus and obesity She provides insightful discussions of basic foods such as bread fish and meat and intertwines them with social topics like slow food and other gastronomy movements the fear of technology and risk food and climate change the agricultural landscape urban food systems and food in art The culmination of decades of research Hamburgers in Paradise provides valuable insights into how our food is produced how it is consumed and how we can use the lessons of the past to design food systems to feed all humankind in the future      A Brief Natural History of Civilization Mark Bertness,2020-04-14 A compelling evolutionary narrative that reveals how human civilization follows the same ecological rules that shape all life on Earth Offering a bold new understanding of who we are where we came from and where we are going noted ecologist Mark Bertness argues that human beings and their civilization are the products of the same self organization evolutionary adaptation and natural selection processes that have created all other life on Earth Bertness follows the evolutionary process from the primordial soup of two billion years ago through today exploring the ways opposing forces of competition and cooperation have led to current assemblages of people animals and plants Bertness s thoughtful examination of human history from the perspective of natural history provides new insights about why and how civilization developed as it has and explores how humans as a species might have to consciously overrule our evolutionary drivers to survive future challenges
