The Fantasy Eaters Stories From Fiji:

The Fantasy Eaters Subramani, 1988 A collection of nine short stories and one novella set in the author's native Fiji Islands and told from the point of view of Fiji's Asian Indian community. The works focus on the ways in which transplanted Indian traditions both nurture and suffocate the island immigrants and their descendants. Fiji Roseline NgCheong-Lum, 2000 This book describes the geography, history, government, economy, people, lifestyle, religion, language, arts, leisure, festivals, and food of South Pacific island of Fiji. Historical Dictionary of Fiji Brij V. Lal, 2015-12-15 This book is the first concise account of the history of the Fiji islands from the beginning of human settlement to the early years of the 21st century. Its primary focus is on the period since the advent of colonial rule in the late 19th century to the present, benefiting from the author's internationally acknowledged expertise as a scholar and writer on the Fijian past. Besides factual information, the book also offers a scholarly assessment of the people and events which have shaped Fiji's history. The Historical Dictionary of Fiji contains a chronology, an introduction, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 300 cross-referenced entries on important personalities, politics, economy, foreign relations, religion, and culture. This book is an excellent resource for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about Fiji. Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition. The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature, though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial. After three decades, the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content, and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices. While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention, questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue. This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania. It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry, fiction, and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands, New Zealand, and Australia. The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid-1960s. They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions. Entries are grouped in topical chapters, and each entry includes an extensive annotation. An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature. Modernism in the Metrocolony Caitlin Vandertop, 2020-11-26 While literary modernism is often associated with Euro American metropolises such as London Paris or New York this book considers the place of the colonial city in modernist fiction From the streets of Dublin to the shop houses of Singapore and from the botanical gardens of Bombay to the suburbs of Suva the monumental landscapes of British colonial cities aimed to reinforce empire's universalising claims yet these spaces also contradicted and resisted the impositions of an idealised English culture Inspired by the uneven landscapes of the urban British empire a group of twentieth century writers transformed the visual incongruities and anachronisms on display in the city streets into sources of critique and formal innovation Showing how these writers responded to empire's metrocolonial complexities and built legacies Modernism in the Metrocolony traces an alternative peripheral history of the modernist city
