The book traverses a rich spectrum of themes including politics, religion, and the socio-economic landscapes of his time, offering a compelling critique of contemporary society while reflecting the literary traditions of Distributism and the Catholic intellectual revival. Hilaire Belloc, a British-French writer and historian, was deeply influenced by his experiences as a convert to Catholicism and his observations of the societal shifts in early 20th-century Europe. His upbringing in a mixed cultural environment and his passion for social justice informed his eclectic corpus of work. Belloc was not only a prolific author but also a passionate advocate for a return to smaller, community-based economies, which provides a vital context for his writings in this collection. This anthology is essential reading for anyone interested in the intersection of literature and social philosophy. Belloc's insights into the human condition remain relevant in today's discussions on community, morality, and governance. The Invasion of the Crimea Alexander William Kinglake, 1890 Alexander William Kinglake, 1809-1891, visited the Crimea in 1854 as a civilian and was present at the battle of the Alma, 20 Sep 1854. The British C-in-C Lord Raglan suggested to Kinglake that he write a history of the Crimean War and made available all his private papers. The result is this monumental and elaborate piece of work which tells the story of the war from its origin to the death of Raglan on 28 June 1855; the conflict still had another eight months to run to its conclusion at the Treaty of Paris on 28 February 1856. These volumes, between them, number over 4,000 pages and the period they cover is less than a year, so the amount of detail can be imagined. Volume III, for example, covers the Alma; volume IV, the siege of Sevastopol; volume V, is devoted to Balaclava; volume VI, to the Battle of Inkerman; and volume VII, to the dreadful winter of 1854-1855. Maps and battlefield diagrams include a
