Undoing Ethics Natasha Whiteman, 2012-01-07 Over the past decade researchers from different academic disciplines have paid increasing attention to the productivity of online environments The ethical underpinnings of research in such settings however remain contested and often controversial As traditional debates have been reignited by the need to respond to the particular characteristics of technologically mediated environments researchers have entered anew key debates regarding the moral legal and regulative aspects of research ethics A growing trend in this work has been towards the promotion of localized and contextualized research ethics the suggestion that the decisions we make should be informed by the nature of the environments we study and the habits expectations of participants within them Despite such moves the relationship between the empirical theoretical and methodological aspects of Internet research ethics remains underexplored Drawing from ongoing sociological research into the practices of media cultures online this book provides a timely and distinctive response to this need This book explores the relationship between the production of ethical stances in two different contexts the ethical manoeuvring of participants within online media fan communities and the ethical decision making of the author as Internet researcher manoeuvring as it were in the academic community In doing so the book outlines a reflexive framework for exploring research ethics at different levels of analysis the empirical settings of research the theoretical perspectives which inform the researcher's objectification of the research settings and the methodological issues and practical decisions that constitute the activity as research The analysis of these different levels develops a way of thinking about ethical practice in terms of stabilizing and destabilizing moves within and between research and researched communities The analysis emphasizes the continuities and discontinuities between both research practice and online media fan activity and social activity in on and offline environments

Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, Doing Research in Special Education Richard Rose, Ian Grosvenor, 2013-10-23 This book incorporates an international perspective of research related to special education across all phases of education It draws upon the experience and expertise of recognized researchers and practitioners in special education As a research handbook for practicing teachers this book provides exemplars of good classroom based research practice addressing a broad range of special needs issues Methods are presented which can be generalized to situations beyond the case studies immediately presented Action Research in Teaching and Learning Lin Norton, 2009-05-07 A practical down to earth guide for those who work in teaching and learning in universities this book will be indispensable reading for those who would like to carry out action research on their own practice Lin S Norton's concept of pedagogical action research has come from over twenty years experience of carrying out such research and more than six years of encouraging colleagues to carry out small scale studies at an institutional national and international level This accessible text illustrates what might be done to improve teaching supporting learning by carrying out action research to address such questions such as What can I do to enthuse my students What can I do to help students become more analytical How can I help students to link theory with their practice What can I do to make my lecturing style more accessible What is going wrong in my seminars when my students don't speak Action Research for Teaching and Learning offers readers practical advice on how to research their own practice in a higher education context It has been written specifically to take the reader through each stage of the action research process with the ultimate goal of producing a research study which is publishable Cognisant of the sector's view on what is perceived to be mainstream research the author has also written a substantial theoretical section which justifies the place of pedagogical action research in relation to reflective practice and the scholarship of teaching and learning

Extending Professional Practice in the Early Years Linda Miller, Carrie Cable, Rose Drury, 2011-11-01 Extending Professional Practice in the Early Years is aimed at early years practitioners engaged in on going learning and working in a diverse range of settings It will be of interest to those undertaking undergraduate and postgraduate training in early years and those involved in continuing their professional development It is a valuable and unique resource for those in the later stages of their professional development The book encourages readers to take a critical stance in relation to a wide range of themes and issues which are reflected in the four parts of the book listening to children diversity and transitions pedagogy and practice leadership and change Throughout the book authors reflect common concerns such as the rights of children diversity and a more holistic approach to working with young children and highlight key research in the field
