Social Assessment And Agricultural Reform In Central Asia And Turkey:

Social Assessment and Agricultural Reform in Central Asia and Turkey Ayse Kudat, Stan Peabody, Çağlar Keyder, 2000 The social assessment process is relatively new in the World Bank Since its use is particularly relevant to countries in transition politically socially economically and ethnically where much is still unknown in 1997 the World Bank published a book of case studies of the use of social assessment in general in the former Soviet Union This second volume focuses on the social assessment process in the rural sector and includes Central Asian countries and Turkey which were not included in the first volume This volume has several objectives first to disseminate the Bank s experience with social assessment for the use of development practitioners around the world second to initiate a dialogue about how the social assessment process can be improved in the future and third to demonstrate the usefulness of social assessment in an area of the world where dealing with rapid change and an uncertain knowledge basis is common The Transformation of

Central Asia Pauline Jones Luong, 2018-08-06 With the fall of the Soviet Union in 1991 former Communist Party leaders in Central Asia were faced with the daunting task of building states where they previously had not existed Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan Their task was complicated by the institutional and ideological legacy of the Soviet system as well as by a more actively engaged international community These nascent states inherited a set of institutions that included bloated bureaucracies centralized economic planning and patronage networks Some of these institutions survived others have mutated and new institutions have been created Experts on Central Asia here examine the emerging relationship between state actors and social forces in the region Through the prism of local institutions the authors reassess both our understanding of Central Asia and of the state building process more broadly They scrutinize a wide array of institutional actors ranging from regional governments and neighborhood committees to transnational and non governmental organizations With original empirical research and theoretical insight the volume s contributors illuminate an obscure but resource rich and strategically significant region Livestock Farming Systems in Central and Eastern Europe

A. Gibon, S. Mihina, 2023-08-28 This book examines the potential of Livestock Farming Systems LFS research to assess and understand the diversity of livestock farming systems in Central and Eastern Europe CEE LFS research based on systemic modelling has improved the understanding of livestock production realities at farm level and influenced agricultural development strategies in Western Europe Researchers from both Western and Eastern Europe carried out this initial study which was coordinated and sponsored under a collaborative agreement between EAAP and FAO and was run in selected regions in Bulgaria the Czech Republic Hungary Poland and the Slovak Republic The results and conclusions of the study are reported in the book together with the other contributions of interest with respect to the sustainable development of livestock production in CEE presented and discussed during a workshop in Budapest in August 2001 The results of the study demonstrate the adaptability of LFS research to systems predominantly based on large scale private corporate and co operative farms in the CEE countries Access to Education for the Poor in Europe and Central Asia Nancy Vandycke, 2001-01-01 This paper focuses on the long term benefits of education It also examines the supply of education the short term incentives to invest in education for the poor and draws on the policy implications This paper also stresses the need to study further the determinants of school enrollment among the poor Farm Sector Restructuring in Belarus Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, Sergei Sotnikov, 2000 Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Belarus is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique features of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank's recommendations more credible and relevant The survey findings in this volume will provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country's government and supply international donors that are active there with essential information to design their strategic programs Exclusion and Poverty in India and Central Asia Chittaranjan Senapati, 2016-09-09 The early years of 1990s economic reform and change has neglected social sectors both in India and Central Asia As a result poverty has also increased in India and Central Asian countries The economic political and social situation has worsened in all Central Asian states due to transition from command economy to market economy The early 1990s political decision has been dominated by a narrowly conceived version of economic policy for both India and Central Asia As a result the quality and the structure of social protection changed in a negative way Indeed in some cases the pursuit of a strict economic orthodoxy has left various sections of the community marginalized and alienated Both the societies confront a number of challenges that is as profound as the economic changes of the past The process of globalization and technical change has influenced economy and society in complex ways including raising expectations of consumption and remuneration for skilled knowledge workers creating greater demand for some information skills and services causing unemployment amongst those with few qualifications and destabilizing some traditional ways of life and increasing social exclusion It detaches groups and individuals from social relations and institutions and prevents them from full participation in the normal activities of the society In India and Central Asia communities face social exclusion on the basis of their identity as ethnic groups socio economic groups religious community and gender Inclusive development therefore is essential and it should be the top priority in development programs of India and Central Asia Research in this area has not been touched upon so far Since Central Asian countries are relatively new and trying to establish their democratic institutions this piece of work will be helpful for their nation building processes So far as the mutual benefit for both the regions is concerned India is an old democracy and its inclusive policy can be lessons for Central Asian countries On the other hand the experience of Central Asias policy implementation can be a lesson for India This piece of work has potential impulses to policy makers academicians and researchers of these five Central Asian countries and India This work can make a distinction than the conventional researcher in India by focusing on development studies social exclusion inclusive policies and comparative studies in international developments Key words social exclusion poverty deprivation development diversity India Central Asia Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan

The World Bank in Turkey, 1993-2004 Basil Kavalsky,2006-01-01 This book examines the objectives set by the World Bank for its operations in Turkey in the period 1993 2004 and the extent to which those objectives were met Institutional Elements of Tax Design and Reform John McLaren,2003

Food Security and Political Stability in Tajikistan Raj Kumar Sharma,2018-10-01 There are links between food security and political stability as was evident during the world food crisis of 2007 08 Food riots were witnessed in a number of countries contributing to political instability There are a number of dimensions to the problem of food insecurity in Tajikistan This book is an attempt to fill the academic void on Tajikistan especially pertaining to its food security This work traces the history of agriculture and food production in Tajikistan from mid 19th century when it came under Russian rule From its inception Tajikistan has been facing the geographic handicap as it is a mountainous country and only 7 percent of the total land is arable which limits its food production This book is a detailed study of how Soviet economic geography introduced intensive cotton cultivation in Tajikistan at the expense of food crops Soviet economic planners felt that a region with hot climate and large water resources should not attempt to grow grains but cotton In the contemporary context this book focuses on how the state and international actors have responded to the food insecurity in Tajikistan Most importantly the book also analyses the relationship between food security and political stability in Tajikistan

Structural Change in the Farming Sectors in Central and Eastern Europe Csaba Csáki,Zvi Lerman,2000-01-01 Farm structures in Central and Eastern Europe CEE today cover a whole spectrum of forms which include small subsistence oriented household plots medium sized commercial family farms and large corporations The agricultural sector in CEE definitely has not embraced the family farm as the dominant farming structure thus confounding the original expectations of Western experts On the other hand agriculture did not collapse because of fragmentation and privatization as predicted by conservative doomsayers To address the concerns of the farming sector in CEE with relation to EU accession a workshop was held in Warsaw Poland in June 1999 This volume represents a selection of papers presented at this workshop It examines the reforms and policy changes necessary in the food and agriculture sectors of the ten countries that have started the accession process for eventual membership in the European Union Bulgaria Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland

Ready for Europe Barbara Nunberg,2000-01-01 As the ongoing political and economic transition in the Central and Eastern Europe countries CEE moves into the next century the most advanced countries in the region are preparing to deal with their prospective entry into the European Union More a process than an event joining the EU is likely to place heightened demands on public administrations throughout the region To assist these countries with their efforts the Bank conducted a study of the regions The results of that study are included in this volume Ready for Europe specifies and clarifies the administrative requirements of accession The author uses in depth case studies for three pre accession countries Estonia Hungary and the Czech Republic to make these specifications The book defines the performance level countries will need to attain for a range of administrative tasks so the countries may reach a minimal threshold for EU membership It applies selected standards to determine each country s readiness for accession and for the longer term transition agenda The author focuses on these three critical areas of administrative performance in the context of EU accession How advanced is the development of a politically neutral professional human resource cadre in the civil service Do countries have the necessary institutional infrastructure at the government s core that is cabinet level to formulate and coordinate policymaking in an efficient and democratic manner How well are the dedicated institutional structures and processes established to shepherd countries through the accession process working
