Maris Coffman, Harold James, Nicholas Di Liberto, 2021-03-10 If the turn of the twenty-first century was characterised by the history wars in which bitter internecine battles raged between different historical schools, Jonathan Steinberg was noteworthy for his methodological pluralism. His own historical work spanned diplomatic history, military history, the social history of war, biography, social history, banking history, political culture and genocide studies. He often employed a comparative historical approach which teased out deep historical explanations by examining personalities, nations and traditions simultaneously. This book offers a critical appreciation of his contribution to modern historical practice with contributions by former students and colleagues whose own interests are as diverse as those of Steinberg himself.

Fairbridge Chris Jeffery, Geoffrey Sherington, 2013-09-05 This study investigates the motives for the establishment of the Fairbridge child migration scheme, examines its history in Australia and Canada and outlines the experiences of many of the former child migrants. British Boarding Houses in Interwar Women's Literature Terri Mullholland, 2016-10-04 Embraced for the dramatic opportunities afforded by a house full of strangers, the British boarding house emerged as a setting for novels published during the interwar period by a diverse range of women writers from Stella Gibbons to Virginia Woolf. To use the single room in the boarding house or bedsit, Terri Mullholland argues, is to foreground a particular experience. While the single room represents the freedoms of independent living available to women in the early twentieth century, it also marks the precariousness of unmarried women's lives. By placing their characters in this transient space, women writers could explore women's changing social roles and complex experiences: amateur prostitution, lesbian relationships, extra-marital affairs and abortion. Outside traditional domestic narrative concerns, Mullholland presents new readings of works by canonical and non-canonical writers including Stella Gibbons, Winifred Holtby, Storm Jameson, Rosamond Lehmann, Dorothy Richardson, Jean Rhys and Virginia Woolf. A hybrid of the modernist and realist domestic fiction written and read by women, the literature of the single room merges modernism's interest in interior psychological states with the realism of precisely documented exterior spaces, offering a new mode of engagement with the two forms of interiority. Napoleon III and the Second Empire Roger D.
