Excerpt from The Bride of Abydos A Turkish Tale The Bride of Abydos Canto I Know ye the land where the cypress and myrtle Are emblems of deeds that are done in their clime Where the rage of the vulture the love of the turtle Now melt into sorrow now madden to crime Know ye the land of the cedar and vine Where the flowers ever blossom the beams ever shine Where the light wings of Zephyr oppressed with perfume Wax faint o'er the gardens of Gul in her bloom Where the citron and olive are fairest of fruit And the voice of the nightingale never is mute Where the tints of the earth and the hues of the sky In colour though varied in beauty may vie And the purple of Ocean is deepest in die Where the virgins are soft as the roses they twine And all save the spirit of man is divine About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Bride of Abydos ,1813
