Human Beginnings in South Africa H. J. Deacon, Janette Deacon, 1999 The Stone Age is now beginning to be recognised as vital in establishing who we are and where we have come from. This period has long been neglected.

South Africa in World History Iris Berger, 2009-03-27 South Africa in World History discusses the history of South Africa from the early centuries of the Common Era to the present day and addresses broad themes of world history such as colonialism, white settlement, nationalism, and reconciliation.

PORT NOLLOTH: the making of a South African seaport Patrick Richard Carstens, The Archaeology of Southern Africa Peter Mitchell, 2002-11-14 This book provides an archaeological synthesis of Southern Africa.

The Oxford Handbook of African Archaeology Peter Mitchell, Paul Lane, 2013-07-04 Africa has the longest and arguably the most diverse archaeological record of any of the continents. It is where the human lineage first evolved and from where Homo sapiens spread across the rest of the world. Later it witnessed novel experiments in food production and unique trajectories to urbanism and the organisation of large communities that were not always structured along strictly hierarchical lines. Millennia of engagement with societies in other parts of the world confirm Africa's active participation in the construction of the modern world, while the richness of its history, ethnography, and linguistics provide unusually powerful opportunities for constructing interdisciplinary narratives of Africa's past. This Handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis of African archaeology covering the entirety of the continent's past from the beginnings of human evolution to the archaeological legacy of European colonialism. As well as covering almost all periods and regions of the continent, it includes a mixture of key methodological and theoretical issues and debates and situates the subject's contemporary practice within the discipline's history and the infrastructural challenges now facing its practitioners. Bringing together essays on all these themes from over seventy contributors, many of them living and working in Africa, it offers a highly accessible contemporary account of the subject for use by scholars and students of not only archaeology but also history, anthropology, and other disciplines.

Genocide of Indigenous Peoples Robert Hitchcock, 2017-09-08 An estimated 350 to 600 million indigenous people reside across the globe. Numerous governments fail to recognize its indigenous peoples living within their borders. It was not until the latter part of the twentieth century that the genocide of indigenous peoples became a major focus of human rights activists, non governmental organizations, international development and finance institutions such as the United Nations and the World Bank and indigenous and other community based organizations Scholars and activists began paying greater attention to the struggles between Fourth World peoples and First Second and Third World states because of illegal actions of nation states against indigenous peoples indigenous groups passive and active resistance to top down development and concerns about the impacts of transnational forces including what is now known as globalization This volume offers a clear message for genocide scholars and others concerned with crimes against humanity and genocide much greater attention must be paid to the plight of all peoples indigenous and otherwise no matter how small in scale how little known how invisible or hidden from view     Capturing the Spoor Edward B. Eastwood,Edward Eastwood,Cathelijne Eastwood,2006 The first book of its kind to discuss the rock art of cultural groups other than the San It gives the rock art of South Africa a wider context and greater depth than has a hitherto been apparent

South Africa's Diverse Peoples Sally Frankental,Owen Ben Sichone,2005-12-13 This authoritative work examines 500 years of interaction between the races in a country that during the apartheid era became a byword for racial disharmony Nelson Mandela s release from prison in February 1990 was the defining moment in South Africa s transition from apartheid to democracy But as this fascinating study shows the racial history of South Africa is much more complex than a simple struggle between black and white How did South Africa become a crossroads for peoples as diverse as the Zulu the Xhosa the Dutch and the Chinese Did the end of apartheid really herald a new dawn in race relations or have the scars of those years yet to truly heal To answer these questions this timely volume examines South Africa s ethnic history over 500 years From the earliest contacts between Europeans and Africans to the country s changing role in the post apartheid era this reference work traces the fascinating racial history of South Africa before during and after the apartheid years

Indigenous Archaeologies Claire Smith,H. Martin Wobst,2004-11-10 With case studies from North America to Australia and South Africa and covering topics from archaeological ethics to the repatriation of human remains this book charts the development of a new form of archaeology that is informed by indigenous values and agendas This involves fundamental changes in archaeological theory and practice as well as substantive changes in the power relations between archaeologists and indigenous peoples Questions concerning the development of ethical archaeological practices are at the heart of this process

First People Andrew Smith,2022-02-01 Southern Africa s first people communities are the groups of hunter gatherers and herders representing the oldest human lineages in Africa who migrated from as far as East Africa to settle in what is now Namibia Botswana and South Africa These groups known today as the Khoisan are represented by the Bushmen or San and the Khoe In First People archaeologist Andrew Smith examines what we know about southern Africa s earliest inhabitants drawing on evidence from excavations rock art the observations of colonial era travellers linguistics the study of the human genome and the latest academic research Richly illustrated First People is an invaluable and accessible work that reaches from the Middle and Later Stone Age to recent times and explores how the Khoisan were pushed to the margins of history and society Smith who is an expert on the history and prehistory of the Khoisan paints a knowledgeable and fascinating portrait of their land occupation migration survival strategies and cultural practices

The Testing Grounds of Modern Empire Christoph Strobel, 2008 The Testing Grounds of Modern Empire examines the transformation and the gradual creation of colonial racial order on an American and a South African frontier respectively This study focuses on the Ohio Country a region including parts of present day western Pennsylvania Ohio Indiana and Michigan and the South African Eastern Cape a region located on the southeastern tip of the African continent in the late eighteenth and the nineteenth century This book compares and juxtaposes the processes of indigenous dispossession and white efforts at undermining Native American and African sovereignty While the scenarios in the Ohio Country and the Eastern Cape did not repeat themselves identically in other locations comparable patterns would emerge in later years as the United States expanded westward and Britain expanded into southern and eastern Africa Christoph Strobel explores how various white and indigenous people tried to shape the creation of colonial racial order in the two regions An emerging compromise among white settlers government officials and other white interest groups gradually led to the implementation of systems of colonial racial order in both the Ohio Country and the Eastern Cape by the mid nineteenth century This transformation shaped by violence conflict and cooperation left a legacy that influenced the development of colonization and the contested construction and representation of race in the United States southern Africa and around the world

Cultural Tourism and Identity Keyan Tomaselli, 2012-08-22 Studies of cultural tourism and indigenous identity are fraught with questions concerning exploitation entitlement ownership and authenticity Unease with the idea of leveraging a group identity for commercial gain is ever present This anthology articulates some of these debates from a multitude of standpoints It assimilates the perspectives of members of indigenous communities non governmental organizations tourism practitioners and academic researchers who participated in an action research project that aims to link research to development outcomes

Archaeologies of Us and Them Charlotta Hillerdal, Anna Karlström, Carl-Gösta Ojala, 2017-02-17 Archaeologies of Us and Them explores the concept of indigeneity within the field of archaeology and heritage and in particular examines the shifts in power that occur when we define the other by categorizing them as indigenous Recognizing the complex and shifting distinctions between indigenous and non indigenous pasts and presents this volume gives a nuanced analysis of the underlying definitions concepts and ethics associated with this field in order to explore Indigenous archaeology as a theoretical ethical and political concept Indigenous archaeology is an increasingly important topic discussed worldwide and as such critical analyses must be applied to debates which are often surrounded by political correctness and consensus views Drawing on an international range of global case studies this timely and sensitive collection significantly contributes to the development of archaeological critical theory

Contested Karoo: Interdisciplinary perspectives on change and continuity in South Africa's drylands Cherryl Walker, M Timm Hoffman, 2024-05-15 This interdisciplinary collection explores significant land use changes in South Africa's semi arid Karoo region and their implications for social justice and the environment across different scales. It brings together recent scholarship by established and younger researchers in both the social and the natural sciences to examine the ways in which the Karoo is being reconfigured as a new resource frontier and the tensions and contestations that result. Along with ongoing mining major investments in astronomy notably the Square Kilometre Array radio telescope in renewable and non renewable sources of energy solar wind potential shale gas mining in biodiversity conservation and commercial game farming are reshaping land use and authority in this vast and long marginalised area. While promising significant benefits to society at large these developments are built on older histories of dispossession and extractivism histories that many Karoo residents fear are being reproduced in new forms today. Collectively these dynamics place this unique region at the centre of national and global concerns around climate change the politics of knowledge production the conservation of threatened biodiversity and the meaning and possibility of sustainable development. These issues are explored through a series of case studies of selected developments complemented by chapters providing more historical context and general overviews. While challenging perceptions of this region as a peripheral wasteland this collection raises conceptual and policy questions that resonate far beyond the Karoo itself. It also highlights the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration in research aimed not only at understanding but also at responding appropriately to the mounting challenges of our time.
