Harris, Glenn D. Pinder, 1977 Perspectives in Human Growth, Development and Maturation Parasmani Dasgupta, Roland Hauspie, 2013-03-14 One morning in 1969 out of the blue I received a letter which both distressed and astonished me It was from a Prof S R Das in Calcutta who requested me to accept for eventual analysis a mountain of anthropometric data he had accumulated as he was ill and did not expect to survive to analyse it himself The data provided the astonishment twenty two anthropometric characters recorded every six months or a year over a period of 14 years in a mixed longitudinal study of some 560 children aged six months to twenty years Most were in families with siblings also in the study and every child was measured every time by S R Das himself The archive was unique combining the personal anthropometry of R H Whitehouse in the Harpenden Growth Study and the family approach of the Fels Growth Study This was a study of which neither I nor anyone of my acquaintance had heard Even in India Prof Das work was scarcely known It turned out Das was a scholarly man quiet and unassuming absolutely committed to his Sarsuna Barisha Growth Study just the obverse of the professional showman Clearly this was not a request I could refuse although I already had in hand enough projects to occupy Siva himself

Vital and Health Statistics ,1978 Human Growth F. Falkner,2013-06-29 Growth as we conceive it is the study of change in an organism not yet mature Differential growth creates form external form through growth rates which vary from one part of the body to another and one tissue to another and internal form through the series of time entrained events which build up in each cell the specialized complexity of its particular function We make no distinction then between growth and development and if we have not included accounts of differentiation it is simply because we had to draw a quite arbitrary line somewhere It is only rather recently that those involved in pediatrics and child health have come to realize that growth is the basic science peculiar to their art It is a science which uses and incorporates the traditional disciplines of anatomy physiology biophysics biochemistry and biology It is indeed a part of biology and the study of human growth is a part of the curriculum of the rejuvenated science of Human Biology What growth is not is a series of charts of height and weight Growth standards are useful and necessary and their construction is by no means void of intellectual challenge They are a basic instrument in pediatric epidemiology But they do not appear in this book any more than clinical accounts of growth disorders This appears to be the first large handbook in three volumes devoted to Human Growth
