Methods in Cellular Imaging Ammasi Periasamy,2013-05-27 Advances in technology have revolutionized the development of light microscopy techniques in biomedical research thus improving visualization of the microstructure of cells and tissues under physiological conditions Fluorescence microscopy methods are non contact and non invasive and provide high spatial and temporal resolution that other laboratory techniques cannot This well illustrated book targets graduate students and scientists who are new to the state of the art fluorescence microscopy techniques used in biological and clinical imaging It explains basic concepts and imaging procedures for wide field confocal multiphoton excitation fluorescence resonance energy transfer FRET lifetime imaging FLIM spectral imaging fluorescence recovery after photobleaching FRAP optical tweezers total internal reflection high spatial resolution atomic force microscopy AFM and bioluminescence imaging for gene expression The usage of these techniques in various biological applications including calcium pH membrane potential mitochondrial signaling protein protein interactions under various physiological conditions and deep tissue imaging is clearly presented The authors describe the approaches to selecting epifluorescence microscopy the detectors and the image acquisition and processing software for different biological applications Step by step directions on preparing different digital formats for light microscopy images on websites are also provided Neurophotronics and Brain Mapping Yu Chen,Babak Kateb,2017-06-14 Understanding how the brain works and developing effective therapeutics are important in advancing neuroscience and improving clinical patient care Neurophotronics and Brain Mapping covers state of the art research and development in optical technologies and applications for brain mapping and therapeutics It provides a comprehensive overview of various methods developed using light both microscopic and macroscopic techniques Recent developments in minimally invasive endoscopic imaging of deep brain structure and function as well as light based therapy are also reviewed Cumulated Index Medicus ,1987 Convolution in French Mathematics, 1800-1840: The data I.

Grattan-Guinness,1990 Marine Ecosystem Restoration (MER) - Challenges and New Horizons Brian Silliman,Avigdor Abelson,Christine Angelini,Gesche Krause,Megan Irene Saunders,Tjisse Van Der Heide,2023-10-23 Worldwide marine ecosystems have been lost and degraded due to anthropogenic disturbances For example oyster reefs have declined by at least 85% coral reefs by 19% seagrasses by 29% North American salt marshes by 42% and mangroves by 35% from the early 19th century Deepwater reefs and deep sea vents are not immune and have also been reduced in extent in many areas Factors driving these losses include habitat destruction pollution invasive species overfishing trawling mining and more recently climate change effects such as ocean warming species range changes and acidification These habitat declines are occurring at a time when marine waters are being used at or near their maximum productive capacity to meet the contemporary needs of an ever increasing human population Because coastal and marine ecosystems generate some of the richest biodiversity hotspots on Earth and provide critical ecosystem services including storm protection fisheries production and carbon storage over 1 billion US dollars have been spent globally in an attempt to halt and reverse observed declines Early conservation efforts aimed at protecting these valuable and threatened habitats focused on reducing human impacts and physical stressors However with habitat degradation continuing and sometimes increasing in rate it is now clear conservation alone will not be sufficient to protect and reestablish coastal ecosystems Habitat restoration although in existence for many decades has recently been elevated as a new primary strategy to stem and even reverse coastal habitat loss The call for increasing investment in restoration efforts has emerged with significant advances in propagule rearing and dispersion of habitat forming organisms e g oysters seagrasses corals In addition restoration resources are increasingly allocated by governments and or large corporations with the aim to for example fix past landscape engineering efforts that had unintended environmental consequences Such investments are being made to i provide jobs for those unemployed during economic downturns ii restore ecosystems destroyed by natural disasters and stressors iii increase coastal defense in response to increased frequency of intense storms and or iv compensate for pollution and development driven habitat degradation Conservation practitioners have traditionally been skeptical to invest heavily in restoration at large scales because of the high cost per area 10 000 5 000 000 US ha for coastal vs 500 5 000 US ha for terrestrial systems to replant coastal ecosystems and or the high chance that the restored ecosystems will not live long e g outplanted corals For restoration to be effective and employed as a primary method of coastal conservation at relevant scales we must improve its efficiency lower costs and rapidly share and incorporate advances One crucial step will be to identify when and where restoration attempts have been carried out according to state of art ecological theory and gauge their success Another is generating synthesis studies that focus both within and across ecosystems to identify efficiencies adaptations and innovations Work that shows theoretical and methodological innovations in specific ecosystems as well as across systems will be critical to pushing all fields of MER forward Although there is rapidly increasing interest and investment the field of marine ecosystem restoration is just beginning to undergo synthesis Therefore the aim of this Research Topic is to bring together research contributions to help address this synthesis need provide a spotlight for recent innovations enhance our understanding of successful methods in marine ecosystem restoration and promote integration of ecological sociological and engineering theory into restoration practices Advanced Computational Intelligence Methods for Processing Brain Imaging Data Kaijian Xia,Yizhang Jiang,Yu-Dong Zhang,Mohammad Khosravi,Yuanpeng Zhang,2022-11-09 International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995 Optical Radiometry and Satellite Validation Agnieszka Bialek,David Doxaran,Vittorio Ernesto Brando,Clemence Goyens,Kevin Ruddick,Ana Ines Dogliotti,2025-08-26

Strict quality control is essential to ensure that the satellite data products routinely used for environmental monitoring of water and land surfaces are fit for purpose A crucial step in this process is the validation of the water and land surface reflectances from which the final end user products are derived The topic of radiometric validation is growing rapidly in importance both because of the advent of operational satellite missions for routine environmental monitoring and because of the rapid expansion in the number of satellite missions including CubeSat constellations with limited cal val resources This enhanced need for radiometric validation data covering a wide VIS NIR SWIR range e g 380 2400nm preferably with a hyperspectral resolution must be met by new techniques and hardware particularly ground based automated radiometry
