Sobre Le Muerte:

Private Women, Public Lives Bárbara O. Reyes, 2010-01-01 Through the lives and works of three women in colonial California Bárbara O. Reyes examines frontier mission social spaces and their relationship to the creation of gendered colonial relations in the Californias She explores the function of missions and missionaries in establishing hierarchies of power and in defining gendered spaces and roles and looks at the ways that women challenged and attempted to modify the construction of those hierarchies roles and spaces Reyes studies the criminal inquiry and depositions of Barbara Gandiaga an Indian woman charged with conspiracy to murder two priests at her mission the divorce petition of Eulalia Callis the first lady of colonial California who petitioned for divorce from her adulterous governor husband and the testimonio of Eulalia Pérez the head housekeeper at Mission San Gabriel who acquired a position of significant authority and responsibility but whose work has not been properly recognized These three women's voices seem to reach across time and place calling for additional more complex analysis and questions Could women have agency in the colonial Californias Did the social structures or colonial processes in place in the frontier setting of New Spain confine or limit them in particular gendered ways And were gender dynamics in colonial California explicitly rigid as a result of the imperatives of the goals of colonization

Love Songs from al-Andalus Otto Zwartjes,2023-08-21 Love Songs from al Andalus presents an updated survey of the debates concerning Andalusian strophic poetry and their Kharjas Attention is focused on the texts themselves and their literary implications as testimonies of the multicultural and multilingual society of al Andalus Since languages and alphabets of the three major religions have been used these texts are studies historically prosodically thematically and stylistically and are related to the three literary traditions One of the novelties of this study is the fact that it has been based upon the most updated edition and interpretations of the texts introducing emendations in over a third of its contents and making obsolete most of the hundreds of previous articles and books on the topic Another novelty is the fact that stylistic features have been studied according to the Arabic model casting new light on them The survey of thematic relationships and the analysis of code switching phenomena add weight to the conclusions of this research
