Social Class Politics And Urban Markets The Makings Of Bias In Policy Outcomes:

Social Class, Politics, and Urban Markets ,2002-08-07 This book is about the policymaking of public agencies in large American cities It studies urban mass transit in terms of the factors that bias the industry s policy outcomes to benefit one public or another and also aims to demonstrate the value of social science theory in making sense of urban processes and the responsiveness of governmental policymaking in a plural society The Breakdown of Class Politics Terry Nichols Clark,Seymour Martin Lipset,2001-05-22 Class and its linkage to politics became a controversial and exciting topic again in the 1990s Terry Clark and Seymour Martin Lipset published Are Social Classes Dying in 1991 which sparked a lively debate and much new research The main critics of Clark and Lipset at Oxford and Berkeley held initially that class was more persistent than Clark and Lipset suggested The positions were sharply opposed and involved several conceptual and methodological concerns But the issues grew more nuanced as further reflections and evidence accumulated This book draws on four main conferences organized by the editors Sharply contrasting views are forcefully argued with rich and subtle evidence The volume includes a broad overview and synthesis major reports by leading participants and original theoretical and empirical contributions Social Class, Politics, and Urban Markets Herman L. Boschken,2002 This book is about the policymaking of public agencies in large American cities It studies urban mass transit in terms of the factors that bias the industry s policy outcomes to benefit one public or another and also aims to demonstrate the value of social science theory in making sense of urban processes and the responsiveness of governmental policymaking in a plural society Bibliographic Index ,2002 The Politics of Air Pollution George A. Gonzalez,2012-02-01 Who has been at the political forefront of clean air policy development in the United States In The Politics of Air Pollution George A Gonzalez argues that the answer is neither the federal government nor environmental groups but rather locally oriented economic elites in conjunction with state and local governments These local growth coalitions composed of mostly large landholders land developers and the owners of regional media and utility firms support clean air policies insofar as they contribute to the creation of a positive investment climate and in turn bring about greater profits through increased land values and an expanded local consumer base American Book Publishing Record ,2003 Encyclopedia of Consumer Culture Dale Southerton,2011-09-15 The Encyclopedia of Consumer Culture is the first reference work to outline the parameters of consumer culture and provide a critical scholarly resource on consumption and consumerism Library Journal ,2002 Regional Equity Victor Rubin,2017-10-02 Regional equity as a field of scholarship as an arena of policy change and as a social movement has grown diversified and matured in important ways over the past decade The fruits of that growth and development can be seen in recent federal and state policies in the practices of many regional planning organizations and in the agendas and approaches of countless community based organizations and issue advocacy groups As the field has expanded a growing number of researchers have been tracking these phenomena explaining how and why concepts of metropolitan development are being reframed documenting the efforts to shape policies and diversify leadership assessing where and how equity and social justice concerns have been brought into regional planning for transportation land use housing public finances environmental quality smart growth sustainable development public health and other issue areas This volume brings together analyses and commentary by some of the leading scholarly observers these timely developments This book was published as a special issue of Community Development Urban Seam Alan Ka Leung Tse,2009 Strategic Planning for Public and Nonprofit Organizations
