A. Halikowski Smith, 2011-05-25 The Indian Ocean World was an idea borne out by researchers in economic history and trade in the 1980s in response to the compartmentalization of specific area studies within the wider rubric of Asian civilisations and culture Professor Kirti N Chaudhuri s books Trading World of Asia and the English East India Company 1978 and then Trade and Civilization in the Indian Ocean 1985 figured amongst the forefront of this new movement in historical thinking undertaking detailed historical analysis first of the English East India Company and then a comparative cultural history of Asian material life and civilisation Today historians continue to hold on to the idea of an Indian Ocean world although studies now follow a number of different threads from themes like linguistics and creolization to the seeds of national consciousness By presenting a number of studies here gathered into the themes of Intermixing The World of Trade and Colonial Paths it is hoped we can render tribute to one of the outstanding historians in this field and reflect the plenitude of current research in this subject area The Tomb of the Mili Mongga Samuel Turvey, 2024-02-15 The Tomb of the Mili Mongga lives up to its magnificent billing DAILY TELEGRAPH A fossil expedition becomes a thrilling search for a mythical beast deep in the Indonesian forest and a fascinating look at how fossils folklore and biodiversity converge A tale of exciting scientific discovery The Tomb of the Mili Mongga tells the story of Samuel Turvey s expeditions to the island of Sumba in eastern Indonesia While there he discovers an entire recently extinct mammal fauna from the island's fossil record revealing how islands support some of the world's most remarkable biodiversity and why many of these unique endemic species are threatened with extinction or have already been lost. But as the story unfolds, an unexpected narrative emerges. Sumba's Indigenous communities tell of a mysterious wildman called the mili mongga, a giant yeti-like beast that supposedly lives in the island's remote forests. What is behind the stories of the mili mongga? Is there a link between this enigmatic entity and the fossils that Sam is looking for? And what did he discover when he finally found the tomb of a mili mongga? Combining evolution, anthropology, travel writing, and cryptozoology, The Tomb of the Mili Mongga explores the relationship between biodiversity and culture, what reality means from different cultural perspectives, and how folklore, fossils, and conservation can be linked together in surprising ways.

The Portuguese Slave Trade in Early Modern Japan Lúcio De Sousa, 2019-01-21 Winner of the Portuguese Academy of History Award, Gulbenkian Foundation Award in History 2019. In The Portuguese Slave Trade in Early Modern Japan: Merchants, Jesuits, and Japanese, Chinese, and Korean Slaves, Lúcio de Sousa offers a study on the system of traffic of Japanese, Chinese, and Korean slaves from Japan. Using the Portuguese mercantile networks, de Sousa reconstructs the Japanese communities in the Habsburg Empire and analyses the impact of the Japanese slave trade on the Iberian legislation produced in the 16th and first half of the 17th centuries.

The Slave Trade Hugh Thomas, 2013-04-16 After many years of research, award-winning historian Hugh Thomas portrays in a balanced account the complete history of the slave trade. Beginning with the first Portuguese slaving expeditions, Hugh Thomas describes and analyzes the rise of one of the largest and most elaborate maritime and commercial ventures in all of history. Between 1492 and 1870, approximately eleven million black slaves were carried from Africa to the Americas to work on plantations, in mines, or as servants in houses. The Slave Trade is alive with villains and heroes and illuminated by eyewitness accounts. Hugh Thomas's achievement is not only to present a compelling history of the time but to answer controversial questions as to who the traders were, the extent of the profits, and why so many African rulers and peoples willingly collaborated.

The Making of a Periphery Ulbe Bosma, 2019-07-30 Island Southeast Asia was once a thriving region and its products found eager consumers from China to Europe. Today the Philippines, Indonesia, and Malaysia are primarily exporters of their surplus of cheap labor, with more than ten million emigrants from the region working all over the world. How did a prosperous region become a peripheral one? In The Making of a Periphery, Ulbe Bosma draws on new archival sources from the colonial period to the present to demonstrate how high demographic growth and a long history of bonded labor relegated Southeast Asia to the margins of the global economy. Bosma finds that the region's contact with colonial trading powers during the early nineteenth century led to improved health care and longer life spans as the Spanish and Dutch colonial governments began to vaccinate their subjects against smallpox. The resulting abundance of workers ushered in extensive migration toward emerging labor-intensive plantation and mining belts. European powers exploited existing patron-client labor systems with the intermediation of indigenous elites and non European agents to develop extractive industries and plantation agriculture Bosma shows that these trends shaped the postcolonial era as these migration networks expanded far beyond the region A wide ranging comparative study of colonial commodity production and labor regimes The Making of a Periphery is of major significance to international economic history colonial and postcolonial history and Southeast Asian history A History of Christianity in Indonesia Jan Sihar Aritonang, Karel Adriaan Steenbrink, 2008 Indonesia is the home of the largest single Muslim community of the world Its Christian community about 10% of the population has until now received no overall description in English Through cooperation of 26 Indonesian and European scholars Protestants and Catholics a broad and balanced picture is given of its 24 million Christians This book sketches the growth of Christianity during the Portuguese period 1511 1605 it presents a fair account of developments under the Dutch colonial administration 1605 1942 and is more elaborate for the period of the Indonesian Republic since 1945 It emphasizes the regional differences in this huge country because most Christians live outside the main island of Java Muslim Christian relations as well as the tensions between foreign missionaries and local theology receive special attention From Chains to Bonds Doudou Diène, 2001 A collection of 38 papers from the Ouidah Conference held in September 1994 in Ouidah Benin as the launching conference for UNESCO s international Slave Route Project Headhunting and Colonialism R. Roque, 2010-01-22 An exploration of headhunting and the collection of heads for European museums in the context of colonial wars from the 1870s to the 1930s The book offers a new understanding of the mutually dependent interaction between indigenous peoples and colonial powers and how collected remains became regarded as objects of wider significance The Play of Time Janet Hoskins, 1994-01-05 Janet Hoskins provides both an ethnographic study of the organization of time in an Eastern Indonesian society and a theoretical argument about alternate temporalities in the modern world Based on more than three years of field work with the Kodi people of the island of Sumba her book focuses on Kodi calendrical rituals exchange transactions and confrontations with the historical forces of the colonial and postcolonial world Hoskins explores the contingent contested and often contradictory precedent of the past to show how local systems of knowledge are in dialogue with wider historical forces Arguing that traditional temporality is more complex than many theorists have realized Hoskins highlights the flexibility and relativity of local time concepts whose sophistication belies the cliché of simple societies living in a world outside of time Power in Performance Joel C. Kuipers, 2016-11-11 Among the Weyewa of the eastern Indonesian island of Sumba spokesmen seek to inscribe their traditions and sacred obligations through ritual speaking performances In a series of lively poetic dialogues performers use a distinctive couplet style to pursue the trail of their ancestors The Revolt of Prince Nuku Muridan Satrio Widjojo, 2009 During the period of the Dutch East India Company s rule of the Spice Islands Prince Nuku of Tidore stands out as the local hero who opposed the VOC s oppressive trade monopoly This study analyzes how he succeeded in regaining independence for the Sultanate of Tidore by creating an alliance with the English and his Malukan and Papuan adherents The Palgrave

The 2018 and 2019 Indonesian Elections Leonard Sebastian, Alexander Arifianto, 2020-10-15 The 2018 2019 Indonesian elections were among the most divisive elections in Indonesian history where identity politics and ethno religious sentiments were prevalent not just during the 2019 presidential election but also during the 2018 regional executive elections as well Contributors to this edited volume analysed the dynamics between identity politics national and local politics and produce findings and insights that will inform prospective readers regarding the future of identity politics and how it may affect Indonesian politics for the intermediate future This book is an up to date study addressing contemporary Indonesian politics that should be read by Indonesian Studies and more broadly Southeast Asian Studies specialists It is also a useful reference for those studying Electoral Politics Religion and Politics and Comparative Politics

European Slave Trading in the Indian Ocean, 1500-1850 Richard B. Allen, 2015-01-01 Between 1500 and 1850 European traders shipped hundreds of thousands of African Indian Malagasy and Southeast Asian slaves to ports throughout the Indian Ocean world The activities of the British Dutch French and Portuguese traders who operated in the Indian Ocean demonstrate that European slave trading was not confined largely to the Atlantic but must now be viewed as a truly global phenomenon European slave trading and abolitionism in the Indian Ocean also led to the development of an increasingly integrated movement of slave convict and indentured labor during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the consequences of which resonated well into the twentieth century Richard B Allen s magisterial work dramatically expands our understanding of the movement of free and forced labor around the world Drawing upon extensive archival research and a thorough command of published scholarship Allen challenges the modern tendency to view the Indian and Atlantic oceans as self contained units of historical analysis and the attendant failure to understand the ways in which the Indian Ocean and Atlantic worlds have interacted with one another In so doing he offers tantalizing new insights into the origins and dynamics of global labor migration in the modern world
