Pi: A Source Book J.L. Berggren, Jonathan Borwein, Peter Borwein, 2013-06-29 The aim of this book is to provide a complete history of pi from the dawn of mathematical time to the present The story of pi reflects the most seminal the most serious and sometimes the silliest aspects of mathematics and a surprising amount of the most important mathematics and mathematicians have contributed to its unfolding Pi is one of the few concepts in mathematics whose mention evokes a response of recognition and interest in those not concerned professionally with the subject Yet despite this no source book on pi has been published One of the beauties of the literature on pi is that it allows for the inclusion of very modern yet still accessible mathematics Mathematicians and historians of mathematics will find this book indispensable Teachers at every level from the seventh grade onward will find here ample resources for anything from special topic courses to individual talks and special student projects The literature on pi included in this source book falls into three classes first a selection of the mathematical literature of four millennia second a variety of historical studies or writings on the cultural meaning and significance of the number and third a number of treatments on pi that are fanciful satirical and or whimsical

The Early Mathematics of Leonhard Euler C. Edward Sandifer, 2020-07-14 The Early Mathematics of Leonhard Euler gives an article by article description of Leonhard Euler's early mathematical works the 50 or so mathematical articles he wrote before he left St Petersburg in 1741 to join the Academy of Frederick the Great in Berlin These early pieces contain some of Euler's greatest work the Konigsberg bridge problem his solution to the Basel problem and his first proof of the Euler Fermat theorem It also presents important results that we seldom realize are due to Euler that mixed partial derivatives are usually equal our  $f_{x f x}$  notation and the integrating factor in differential equations The book shows how contributions in diverse fields are related how number theory relates to series which in turn relate to elliptic integrals and then to differential equations There are dozens of such strands in this beautiful web of mathematics At the same time we see Euler grow in power and sophistication from a young student when at 18 he published his first work on differential equations a paper with a serious flaw to the most celebrated mathematician and scientist of his time It is a portrait of the world s most exciting mathematics between 1725 and 1741 rich in technical detail woven with connections within Euler s work and with the work of other mathematicians in other times and places laced with historical context Pi:

A Source Book Jonathan M. Borwein,2013-06-29 Our intention in this collection is to provide largely through original writings an ex tended account of pi from the dawn of mathematical time to the present The story of pi reflects the most seminal the most serious and sometimes the most whimsical aspects of mathematics A surprising amount of the most important mathematics and a signifi cant number of the most important mathematicians have contributed to its unfolding directly or otherwise Pi is one of the few mathematical concepts whose mention evokes a response of recog nition and interest in those not concerned professionally with the subject It has been a part of human culture and the educated imagination for more than twenty five hundred years The computation of pi is virtually the only topic from the most ancient stratum of mathematics that is still of serious interest to modern mathematical research To pursue this topic as it developed throughout the millennia is to follow a thread through the history of mathematics that winds through geometry analysis and special functions numerical analysis algebra and number theory It offers a subject that provides mathe maticians with examples of many current mathematical techniques as well as a palpable sense of their historical development Why a Source Book Few books serve wider potential audiences than does a source book To our knowledge there is at present no easy access to the bulk of the material we have collected The Art of Computer Programming Donald E. Knuth,1997-07-04 The bible of all fundamental algorithms and the work that taught many of today s software developers most of what they know about computer programming Byte September 1995 I can t begin to tell you how many pleasurable hours of study and recreation they have afforded me I have pored over them in cars restaurants at work at home and even at a Little League game when my son wasn t in the line up Charles Long If you think you re a really good programmer read Knuth s Art of Computer Programming You should definitely send me a resume if you can read the whole thing Bill Gates It s always a pleasure when a problem is hard enough that you have to get the Knuths off the shelf I find that merely opening one has a very useful terrorizing effect on computers Jonathan Laventhol This first volume in the series begins with basic programming concepts and techniques then focuses more particularly on information structures the representation of information inside a computer the structural relationships between data elements and how to deal with them efficiently Elementary applications are given to simulation numerical methods symbolic computing software and system design Dozens of simple and important algorithms and techniques have been added to those of the previous edition The section on mathematical preliminaries has been extensively revised to match present trends in research Ebook PDF version produced by Mathematical Sciences Publishers MSP <http://msp.org> Mathematical Constants Steven R. Finch,2003-08-18 Steven Finch provides 136 essays each devoted to a mathematical constant or a class of constants from the well known to the highly exotic This book is helpful both to readers seeking information about a specific constant and to readers who desire a panoramic view of all constants coming from a particular field for example combinatorial enumeration or geometric optimization Unsolved problems appear virtually everywhere as well This work represents an outstanding scholarly attempt to bring together all significant mathematical constants in one place      The Theory of Functions of a Real Variable and the Theory of Fourier's Series Ernest William Hobson, 1907
