Sundays Dust:

The Black Sunday Dust Blizzard Bruce Berglund, 2025-08-22 The 1930s were a tough time The Great Depression left many people jobless and penniless Dust storms and drought led to failed crops Livestock died People thought things couldn't get much worse Then on April 14 1935 the sky turned black For hours an enormous dust blizzard blanketed the country in darkness Now readers can step back in time to learn about what led up to this terrifying storm how the tragic event unfolded and the ways in which one dark day changed America forever

Russell Lee: A Photographer's Life and Legacy Mary Jane Appel, 2020-11-17 Russell Lee a contemporary of Walker Evans and Dorothea Lange now emerges from the shadows as one of the most influential documentary photographers in American history The most prolific photographer of the Great Depression Russell Lee has never been canonized for his iconic images With this compulsively readable and definitive biography historian and archivist Mary Jane Appel finally uncovers Lee's rebellious life tracing his journey from blue blood beginnings to intrepid years of activism and pioneering creativity through the incredible body of work he left behind Born in the quintessential turn of the century small town of Ottawa Illinois in 1903 Lee grew up in a wealthy family riddled with tragedy He trained in college to become a chemical engineer but was quickly drawn to Greenwich Village where he developed an interest in social change and the arts In 1935 the charismatic bohemian picked up a camera and a year later walked into the office of Roy Stryker head of the Historical Section of the Resettlement Administration later renamed the Farm Security Administration FSA setting in motion a new life trajectory The Historical Section aimed to capture rural poverty and the New Deal programs designed to abolish it But Stryker imagined a much broader pictorial sourcebook for America and no one on his legendary team including Dorothea Lange Walker Evans and Gordon Parks among others would be more dedicated to reaching this goal than Russell Lee As Appel demonstrates Stryker and Lee developed a fascinating symbiotic relationship that resulted in a massive and complex breadth of work Living out of his car from the fall of 1936 to mid 1942 Lee crisscrossed America's back roads more than any photographer of his era During this time he shot 19 000 negatives that were captioned and printed more than twice that of any other FSA photographer He captured arresting images of sweeping dust storms and devastating floods and chronicled the World War II home front and the last gasp of a small town America that was inexorably vanishing all the while focusing prophetically on issues like segregation and climate change decades before they became national concerns Meticulously weaving previously unseen letters and diaries Appel brilliantly reveals why Lee's profile has remained obscured while his contemporaries became broadly celebrated With more than 100 images spread throughout Russell Lee speaks not only to the complexity of a pioneering documentary photographer's work but to a seminal American moment captured viscerally like never before

The Lectionary Commentary: Theological Exegesis for Sunday's Texts, The Third Readings: Roger E. Van Harn, 2005-09-09 Preaching pastors, ministers and priests know how quickly Sundays come and go. The Lectionary Commentary will not slow the pace of the weekly calendar but it will help assure that sermon preparation begins with a solid engagement with Scripture. Designed to jump start the difficult task of sermon preparation, this indispensable three-volume work gathers exegetical essays on biblical texts from the Revised Common Lectionary. Covering every Sunday of the three-year liturgical cycle as well as Christmas Day, Epiphany and Ascension Day, the readings are arranged in canonical order so as to be of use to all preachers. Seventy-eight pastors, priests and teachers from a variety of Christian traditions have contributed their insights to The Lectionary Commentary. Designed to answer the question "What does the preacher need to know about this text in order to preach a faithful sermon from it?" each of their essays closely considers its specific biblical text all the while remaining alert to the contemporary context in which the sermon will be spoken and heard. The result is an invaluable resource that will aid in the difficult task of facilitating a meaningful encounter between Holy Scripture and our modern world. This volume, The Third Readings: The Gospels, provides exegetical commentary on the lectionary readings for the witnesses to Jesus Christ written by Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Also unique to this volume is an excellent essay by C. Clifton Black on Augustinian preaching and the nurture of Christians. Consulting Editors: Richard A. Burridge, Thomas W. Gillespie, Colin E. Gunton, Robert W. Jenson, James F. Kay, Hughes Oliphant Old, Fleming Rutledge, Marguerite Shuster. This Land that I Love John Shaw, 2013-11-05 A narrative history of the writing of This Land Is Your Land and God Bless America discusses the conflicts and common ground between the two classic anthems, revealing how Woody Guthrie composed one as a reflection of Great Depression realities as a rebuttal to Irving Berlin's equally complex song written partly in response to the rise of Hitler.

One Sunday Joy Dettman, 2007-11-10 From the bestselling author of Mallawindy and the Woody Creek series, an intriguing read that transcends genre and could be the genesis of a great Australian movie. Weekend Australian: Early one Sunday the town of Molliston wakes to the news that a young bride is dead. The year is 1929. The Great War with Germany has been fought and won but at an immense cost to the small community. Death is too familiar here. So many sons were lost. So many daughters would never be wives, so many grandchildren would never be born. Racial hatred is like a bushfire in the belly of some. And the dead girl is found only yards from the property of old Joe Reichenberg, a German. Tom Thompson, the local cop, lost his two sons in Gallipoli. He believes he has come to terms with his bereavement until that Sunday. Slowly the true face of Molliston is exposed. By midnight a full moon is offering its light and a glimmer of hope. Dettman writes compulsively readable stories. The Age, Fans of Rosalie Ham's The Dressmaker will love Joy Dettman.
