The Goddess and the Sun in Indian Myth Raj Balkaran,2020-04-07

In analyzing the parallels between myths glorifying the Indian Great Goddess Durg and those glorifying the Sun S rya found in the M rka eya Pur a this book argues for an ideological ecosystem at work in the M rka eya Pur a privileging worldly values of which Indian kings the Goddess Dev the Sun S rya Manu and M rka eya himself are paragons This book features a salient discovery in Sanskrit narrative text just as the M rka eya Pur a houses the Dev M h tmya glorifying the supremacy of the Indian Great Goddess Durg it also houses a S rya M h tmya glorifying the supremacy of the Sun S rya in much the same manner This book argues that these m h tmyas were meaningfully and purposefully positioned in the M rka eya Pur a while previous scholarship has considered this haphazard interpolation for sectarian aims The book demonstrates that deliberate compositional strategies make up the Saura kta symbiosis found in these mirrored m h tmyas Moreover the author explores what he calls the dharmic double helix of Brahmanism most explicitly articulated by the structural opposition between prav tti worldly and niv tti other worldly dharmas As the first narrative study of the S rya M h tmya along with the first study of the M rka eya Pur a or any Pur a as a narrative whole this book will be of interest to academics in the field of Religion Hindu Studies South Asian Studies Goddess Studies Narrative Theory and Comparative Mythology

History and Archaeology of Gujarat Through The Prism of Skandapurana S.C. Mishra and Manisha S. Agnihotri,2023-01-01 History and Archaeology of Gujarat Through the Prism of Skandapur na primarily engages with the sifting of archaeological and historical data from the narrative of Dharm ranya M h tmya section of the Skandapur na As a sequel this volume on the one hand brings out locates and unravels the history and archaeology of the settlements decadence and rehabilitations of a place many a times in succession at different points of times in its long checkered history and on the other hand it unravels the successive layers of developments at the site s and its influence zones on the topographical landscape of Gujarat through the medium of the Archaeological Stratification of the text Later in its secondary treatment the volume juxtaposes matches and reconciles the data and material culture obtained from the series of explorations and excavations conducted at various archaeological sites in the past The conclusion highlights that some of the accounts of the puranic descriptions of the Dharm ra nya M h tmya such as its settlements migrations immigrations rehabilitations and the extension of the nuclear sites matches with the archaeological sites of the landscape In the same way some of the structures and places of worship are also corroborated when matched with it

Steps to Water Morna Livingston,2002-04 From the fifth to the nineteenth centuries the people of western India built stone cisterns to collect the water of the monsoon rains and keep it accessible for the remaining dry months of the year These magnificent structures known as stepwells or stepped ponds are much more than utilitarian reservoirs Their lattice like walls carved columns decorated towers and intricate sculpture make them exceptional architecture while their very presence tells much about the region s ecology and history For these past 500 years stepwells

have been an integral part of western Indian communities as sites for drinking washing and bathing as well as for colorful festivals and sacred rituals Steps to Water traces the fascinating history of stepwells from their Hindu origins to their zenith during Muslim rule and eventual decline under British occupation It also reflects on their current use preservation and place in Indian communities In stunning color and quadtone photographs and drawings Steps to Water reveals the depth of the stepwells beauty and their intricate details and serves as a lens on these fascinating cultural and architectural monuments

Gaṇeśa in Indian Art and Literature Nirmala Yadav,1997 Water and Sacred Architecture Anat Geva,2023-05-25 This edited book examines architectural representations that tie water as a physical and symbolic property with the sacred The discussion centers on two levels of this relationship how water influenced the sacredness of buildings across history and different religions and how sacred architecture expressed the spiritual meaning of water The volume deliberately offers original material on various unique contextual and design aspects of water and sacred architecture rather than an attempt to produce a historic chronological analysis on the topic or focusing on a specific geographical region As such this unique volume adds a new dimension to the study of sacred architecture The book s chapters are compiled by a stellar group of scholars and practitioners from the US Canada Europe Asia and Africa It addresses major aspects of water in religious buildings such as rituals pilgrimage water as a cultural material and place making hydro systems modern practices environmental considerations the contribution of water to transforming secular into sacred and future digital cyber context of water and sacredness All chapters are based on original archival studies historical documents and field visits to the sites and buildings These examinations show water as an expression of architectural design its materiality and its spiritual values The book will be of interest to architects historians environmentalists archaeologists religious scholars and preservationists

The Queen's Stepwell at Patan K. Mankodi,1991 Illustrations 75 colour and 136 b w figures and 26 plans Description In the arid region of Gujarat and Rajasthan with scarce rain a highly original architectural form developed that of the stepwell that is a well with a long flight of steps leading down to the water s edge The steps did not remain as a mere adjunct to the well but increased in complexity Structural necessity to hold back the loose earth coupled with the builder s Jove of the ornate transformed the flight of steps into an elaborate stairway with many pillared pavilions demarcating the stages and with many storeys on successive pavilions The Ranki Vav or the Queen s Stepwell at Patan the old capital of Gujarat was built by Udayamati in memory of her husband late in the eleventh century The monument was planned on an ambitious scale over two hundred feet in length with a draw well nearly one hundred feet deep and was furnished with no fewer than eight hundred sculptures The present work is concerned with the architecture statuary style and chronology of the Queen s Stepwell The method of construction is also considered to enable the reader to understand better this unique architectural form Twenty six large drawings specially commissioned and 211 colour and black and white photographs illustrate the book
