Series II, Phase I, 1816-1870 [Anonymus AC00261653], 1984      Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division, 1995      Studies in Tectonic Culture Kenneth Frampton, 2001-08-24 Composed of ten essays and an epilogue that

trace the history of contemporary form as an evolving poetic of structure and construction the book's analytical framework rests on Frampton's close readings of key French and German and English sources from the eighteenth century to the present Kenneth Frampton's long awaited follow up to his classic A Critical History of Modern Architecture is certain to influence any future debate on the evolution of modern architecture Studies in Tectonic Culture is nothing less than a rethinking of the entire modern architectural tradition The notion of tectonics as employed by Frampton the focus on architecture as a constructional craft constitutes a direct challenge to current mainstream thinking on the artistic limits of postmodernism and suggests a convincing alternative Indeed Frampton argues modern architecture is invariably as much about structure and construction as it is about space and abstract form Composed of ten essays and an epilogue that trace the history of contemporary form as an evolving poetic of structure and construction the book's analytical framework rests on Frampton's close readings of key French and German and English sources from the eighteenth century to the present He clarifies the various turns that structural engineering and tectonic imagination have taken in the work of such architects as Perret Wright Kahn Scarpa and Mies and shows how both constructional form and material character were integral to an evolving architectural expression of their work Frampton also demonstrates that the way in which these elements are articulated from one work to the next provides a basis upon which to evaluate the works as a whole This is especially evident in his consideration of the work of Perret Mies and Kahn and the continuities in their thought and attitudes that linked them to the past Frampton considers the conscious cultivation of the tectonic tradition in architecture as an essential element in the future development of architectural form casting a critical new light on the entire issue of modernity and on the place of much work that has passed as avant garde A copublication of the Graham Foundation for Advanced Studies and The MIT Press

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006      Subject Index of Modern Books Acquired British Library, 1971      Who was who, 1929      The Engineer, 1879      Creating Capitalism James Taylor, 2014 The growth of joint stock business in Victorian Britain re evaluated showing in particular the resistance to it Winner of the Economic History Society's Best First Monograph award 2009 The emergence of the joint stock company in nineteenth century Britain was a culture shock for many Victorians Though the home of the industrial revolution the nation's economy was dominated by the private partnership seen as the most efficient as well as the most ethical form of business organisation The large impersonal company and the rampant speculation it was thought to encourage were viewed with suspicion and downright hostility This book argues that the existing historiography understates society's resistance to joint stock enterprise it employs an eclectic range of sources from newspapers and parliamentary papers to cartoons novels and plays to unearth this forgotten economic debate It explores how the legal system was gradually restructured to facilitate joint stock enterprise a process culminating in the limited liability legislation of the mid 1850s This has typically been interpreted as evidence for the emergence of new positive attitudes to speculation and economic growth but the book demonstrates how traditional outlooks continued to influence legislation and the way in which economic reforms were driven by political agendas It shows how debates on the economic culture of nineteenth century Britain are strikingly relevant to current questions over the ethics of multinational corporations James Taylor is Senior Lecturer in British History at Lancaster University
