The Brutal Language Of Love:

The Brutal Language of Love Alicia Erian, 2008-07-15 Alicia Erian's characters are brave, disarming, affectionate and deeply flawed. They inhabit the not so very wide space between a good intention and a bad outcome. In Alcatraz we meet a middle school spelling champion who spends her afternoons taking baths with the boy next door. In Almonds and Cherries a young woman turns an unexpectedly arousing bra shopping experience into a short film with ramifications for everyone around her. In On the Occasion of My Ruination a college-bound student plots to lose her virginity to a pizza parlor waiter. The Brutal Language of Love challenges traditional notions of right and wrong with what has become Erian's signature: an achingly stylish humor and a deep understanding of the brutal truth about human nature. These surprising, provocative and deeply resonant stories marked the emergence of a major talent. Short Story Index, 2004 Don't Call Me Elvis and other Poems Hallowell, Gbanabom, 2016-03-29 Gbanabom Hallowell's poems are free-flowing and he delivers them with flourish, aplomb and satirical agility. His poems do not lack the classic surrealism which are pertinent to poems of anguish. Reading Hallowell seems to confirm that beyond art form poetry can be a soul-searching vehicle that offers a glimpse into the conscience of mankind, a nation and a poet's mindset, some form of refractive mirror. He has met the litmus test of having transcended the threshold that all aspiring poets must accost. Oseloka Obaze, Critic and Author of Regarscent Past, a collection of poems. The 5 Love Languages for Men Gary Chapman, 2014-12-11 The love she craves, the confidence you need. if taken as a more or less continuous Civil War lasted from 1975 to 2002 and during which writers would use techniques seen in many postmodern poets to deconstruct the utopian discourse of poets from the previous generation The essay elucidates existing arguments regarding political and social movement as well as to less recognized arguments regarding literary evolution in Angola during this period
