essay lends itself particularly well to literarizations of the personal relationships that people foster to everyday objects While the idiosyncrasies of each essay show the versatility of thing essays the study also seeks to unearth changing attitudes towards things and thus towards people's material surroundings in general throughout time In order to account for such synchronic and diachronic differences in thing essays this study develops a typology of three modes via which things can be approached essayistically In the book's second part this framework will be employed in close readings and historicizations of 14 thing essays from 1701 until 2021 Ranging from satire to sentimental writing from religion to consumerism from class to gender differences from feelings of nationality to exoticism from the French Revolution to Freud and from art to everyday life the stylistic and thematic broadness of these thing essays ultimately shows the multifarious connections between human life and materiality
