Bell,2020-07-24 Since the days of Dimitur Blagoev a member of the first Marxist group in Russia and a founder of Bulgarian communism the Bulgarian Communist Party BCP was closely identified with its Russian counterpart In the waning days of the Soviet Bloc the best known fact about Bulgaria was that it modeled itself closely on the USSR and was allegedly linked to KGB terrorist activities Those similarities were more than superficial The internal factions in the early history of the party the emphasis on personal leaders and democratic centralism the foreign policy of the pre World War II united front the partisan experience in the war industrialization and collectivization Stalinization and de Stalinization all these developments in Bulgaria reflected the Russian experience Nonetheless their extent and effect were inevitably colored by Bulgaria s size its role in the complicated politics of Eastern Europe and of course the fact that the BCP did not come to power in Bulgaria until after World War II and occupation by the Red Army Under Todor Zhivkov the head of the BCP from 1954 until its near demise in 1989 Bulgaria continued its close collaboration with the USSR while reviving some elements of Bulgarian national culture Zhivkov unlike his Soviet mentor Nikita Khrushchev proved an enduring leader whose anticorruption campaigns and attempts to professionalize the Bulgarian bureaucracy were relatively successful But even at the time this history of the BCP was written in 1986 before the fall of the Soviet Union the path of Bulgaria s future was uncertain Publications League of Nations,1927 Muslims in the Bulgarian and the British Press Desislava Cheshmedzhieva-Stoycheva,2024-09-28 This book compares the ways in which the national media in two different countries construct frame and develop the image of the religious other in this case Muslims in all their variety Although it introduces concepts such as race and racism otherness Orientalism and Islamophobia which may be familiar to the majority of readers in this manuscript they serve the purpose of a comparative analysis which has not been done on the subject to date The manuscript analyzes the thematic distribution of the articles as well as the definitions metaphors and stereotypes used thus presenting a complete and diverse image of Muslims along with the similarities and differences in the thinking patterns employed by Bulgarians and British on the subject and expressed in the respective mainstream media In this respect the manuscript fills a void in the scholarly literature on the ways the media discourses in two very different countries present the image of a religious group Here we can even talk about the existing divide between East and West and the changing perception of the religious Other fostered by the general digitalization and free flow of information As English is an international language it undeniably makes access to information easier however there are not many culture specific studies presenting the current state of a problem or the analyses on that particular topic the image of Muslims in that international medium Therefore the manuscript aims at introducing English speaking scholars students media people and generally everyone interested in the topic to the Bulgarian way of seeing depicting and talking about Muslims As stated above the manuscript draws parallels between the language used by the Bulgarian and the British media thus providing a similar starting point as the majority of the potential readers are probably more familiar with the latter In addition scholars working extensively with other local cultures and or media and resorting to English as a medium for the popularization of their research can use the presented analytical frame to their specific analyses and contribute even further to the enrichment of the global data base on the topic Research in Computer Science in the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences Krassimir T.

Toxic Timescapes Simone M. Müller,May-Brith Ohman Nielsen,2023-01-17 An interdisciplinary environmental humanities volume that explores human environment relationships on our permanently polluted planet While toxicity and pollution are ever present in modern daily life politicians juridical systems media outlets scholars and the public alike show great difficulty in detecting defining monitoring or generally coming to terms with them This volume s contributors argue that the source of this difficulty lies in the struggle to make sense of the intersecting temporal and spatial scales working on the human and more than human body while continuing to acknowledge race class and gender in terms of global environmental justice and social inequality The term toxic timescapes refers to this intricate intersectionality of time space and bodies in relation to toxic exposure As a tool of analysis it unpacks linear understandings of time and explores how harmful substances permeate temporal and physical space as both event and process It equips scholars with new ways of creating data and conceptualizing the past present and future presence and possible effects of harmful substances and provides a theoretical framework for new environmental narratives To think in terms of toxic timescapes is to radically shift our understanding of toxicants in the complex web of life Toxicity pollution and modes of exposure are never static therefore dose timing velocity mixture frequency and chronology matter as much as the geographic location and societal position of those exposed Together these factors create a specific toxic timescape that lies at the heart of each contributor s narrative Contributors from the disciplines of history human geography science and technology studies philosophy and political ecology come together to demonstrate the complex reality of a toxic existence Their case studies span the globe as they observe the intersection of multiple times and spaces at such diverse locations as former battlefields in Vietnam aging nuclear weapon storage facilities in Greenland waste deposits in southern Italy chemical facilities along the Gulf of Mexico and coral breeding laboratories across the world The Bulgarian Banking System and the Housing Finance Market
