History, Narrative, and Testimony in Amitav Ghosh's Fiction Chitra Sankaran, 2012-03-12 This is the first collection of international scholarship on the fiction of Amitav Ghosh

Ghosh's work is read by a wide audience and is well regarded by general readers, critics and scholars throughout the world. Born in India, Ghosh has lived in India, the United Kingdom and the United States. His work spans genres from contemporary realism to historical fiction to science fiction but has consistently dealt with the dislocations, violence and meetings of peoples and cultures engendered by colonialism. The essays in this volume analyze Ghosh's novels in ways that yield new insights into concepts central to postcolonial and transnational studies, making important intertextual connections and foregrounding links to prevailing theoretical and speculative scholarship. The work's introduction argues that irony is central to Ghosh's vision and discusses the importance of the concepts of testimony and history to Ghosh's narratives. An invaluable interview with Amitav Ghosh discusses individual works and the author's overall philosophy.

Malaria and Victorian Fictions of Empire Jessica Howell, 2019. Study of malaria in literature and culture illuminates the legacies of nineteenth-century colonial medicine within narratives of illness.

Applied Global Health Humanities Fella Benabed, 2024-07-01. This book highlights the importance of global Anglophone literature in global health humanities, shaping perceptions of health issues in the Global South and among minorities in the Global North. Using twelve novels, it explores the historical, political, sociocultural, ethical and environmental aspects of health by analyzing the experiences of characters who suffer from infectious diseases, mental disorders or disabilities and who seek holistic healing practices.

Environments in Science Fiction Susan M. Bernardo, Donald E. Palumbo, C.W. Sullivan III, 2014-03-08. The all new essays in this book respond to the question: How do spaces in science fiction both built and unbuilt help shape the relationships among humans, other animals and their shared environments? Spaces, as well as a sense of place or belonging, play major roles in many science fiction works. This book focuses especially on depictions of the future that include but move beyond dystopias and offer us ways to imagine reinventing ourselves and our perspectives, especially our links to and views of new environments. There are ecocritical texts that deal with space, place and science fiction; criticism that deals with dystopias; but there is no other collection that focuses on the intersection of the two.

The Oxford Handbook of Science Fiction Rob Latham, 2014. The Oxford Handbook of Science Fiction attempts to describe the historical and cultural contours of SF in the wake of technoculture studies. Rather than treating the genre as an isolated aesthetic formation, it examines SF's many lines of cross-pollination with technocultural realities since its inception in the nineteenth century, showing how SF's unique history and subcultural identity has been constructed in ongoing dialogue with popular discourses of science and technology. The volume consists of four broadly themed sections, each divided into eleven chapters. Section I: Science Fiction as Genre considers the internal history of SF literature, examining its characteristic aesthetic and ideological modalities, its animating social and commercial institutions and its relationship to other fantastic genres. Section II: Science Fiction as Medium presents a more diverse and ramified understanding of what constitutes the field as a mode of artistic and pop cultural expression, canvassing extra-literary manifestations of SF ranging from film and television to videogames and hypertext to music and theme parks. Section III

Science Fiction as Culture examines the genre in relation to cultural issues and contexts that have influenced it and been influenced by it in turn the goal being to see how SF has helped to constitute and define important sub cultural groupings social movements and historical developments during the nineteenth twentieth and twenty first centuries Finally Section IV Science Fiction as Worldview explores SF as a mode of thought and its intersection with other philosophies and large scale perspectives on the world from the Enlightenment to the present day Challenging Euro-America's Politics of Identity

Jorge Luis Andrade Fernandes,2008-01-07 In this fascinating book Jorge Luis Andrade Fernandes critically examines the impact of colonialism and postcolonial migration on the politics and identity of Euro American imperial powers It considers how outsiders are part of the construction of the native identity of the nation state and also how they challenge its essential coherence when they return to the centre in our increasingly globalized world Engaging in a theoretically motivated discussion of a range of sources film fiction political theory and state policy the volume traces the nomadic movement of bodies across national frontiers helping us to question any natural link between nation states and identities and between places and peoples This is not merely a theoretical problem as Fernandes relates it to the very current crisis of nativistic multicultural identity in the West He examines how politics takes shape in transnational social and cultural encounters and how this new politics is not just about containing aliens but also contains fruitful possibilities for different modes of being Challenging Euro America s Politics of Identity will be of interest to advanced students and scholars in politics geography postcolonial studies cultural studies African and African American studies comparative literature American studies and Ethnic studies Continental Drift Emily Apter,1999-06 From xenophobic appropriations of Joan of Arc to Afro futurism and cyberpunk the national characters of the colonial era often seem to be dissolving into postnational and virtual subjects In Continental Drift Emily Apter deftly analyzes the French colonial and postcolonial experience as a case study in the erosion of belief in national destiny and the emergence of technologically mediated citizenship Among the many topics Apter explores are the fate of national literatures in an increasingly transnational literary climate the volatile stakes of Albert Camus s life and reputation against the backdrop of Algerian civil strife the use of literary and theatrical productions to script national character for the colonies belly dancing and aesthetic theory and the impact of new media on colonial and postcolonial representation from tourist photography to the videos of Digital Diaspora Continental Drift advances debates not just in postcolonial studies but also in gender identity and cultural studies ethnography psychoanalysis and performance studies

Expanding Curriculum Theory William M. Reynolds,Julie A. Webber,2016-04-28 Expanding Curriculum Theory Second Edition carries through the major focus of the original volume to reflect on the influence of Deleuze and Guattari s concept of lines of flight and its application to curriculum theorizing What is different is that the lines of flight have since shifted and produced expanded understandings of this concept for curriculum theory and for education in general This edition reflects the impact of events that have contributed to this shift in particular the il logic of school policy changes and reforms in the past decade and the continued explosion of social media and its effect on the collective understanding of how both knowledge and education work as forms of repression The introduction updates the text and puts it into current debates in the field and in the larger socio economic milieu New dis positions are presented that explore central questions circulating within and outside curriculum studies Exciting scholarship on a range of topics includes notions of desire and commodities youth culture and violence new directions in curriculum theory Eco Ethical consciousness new Deleuzian views of normality the diffusion of technology and lines of flight in transnational curriculum inquiry Amitav Ghosh John C. with Alternative Forms of Storytelling offers innovative approaches to teaching about climate change through storytelling forms that appeal to today's students: climate fiction and protest poetry, fiction and documentary films, video games and social media. The stories are used as exemplars from exploring space debris to urban design, planning to fast fashion and they provide entry points for investigating particular aspects of climate science including the local and global impacts of a warming planet. Each chapter provides analyses and strategies for fostering climate and space literacy through knowledge, empathy and agency. Contributors from around the world encourage educators to answer students' calls for comprehensive K-12 climate education by aligning pedagogy with real world challenges in order to prepare students who understand the myriad injustices of the climate crisis and feel empowered to confront them. They share their own stories and urge educators to join the growing hopeful movement for action.

Dr Ronald Ross Mosquito, Malaria, India and the Nobel Prize B. K. Tyagi, 2020-07-16 The discovery of inextricable link between mosquito malaria by Dr Ronald Ross in 1897 in India is said to be the greatest of all discoveries during the 19th Century. For his epoch making discovery Dr Ross was awarded the Nobel Prize for Medicine or Physiology 1902 besides a string of lofty laurels bestowed with him both in India and Great Britain including Knighthood. Through his dedication to malaria he had obviously joined the extraordinary league of such great scientists as Dr Patrick Manson, Dr Antoni van Leeuwenhoek, Dr Charles Louis Alphonse Laveran, Dr Giovanni Battista Grassi, Dr Camillo Golgi and Dr Robert Koch etc just to name a few. For example, Ronald Ross was born in Almora located in the Himalaya in northern India on 13th May 1857. He worked in the Indian Medical Service for 18 years under highly compelling conditions and had got to conduct his malaria research through all thick and thin often investing from his personal source. It was during his service in Secunderabad, India that he made the ground breaking medical discovery on 20th August 1897. While Ross will be principally remembered for his malaria work, this remarkable man was also a mathematician, epidemiologist, sanitarian, editor, novelist, dramatist, poet, amateur musician, composer and artist. He was a true genius who braved his way without yielding to any pressure and carried the outcome of his research to a decisive state of fruition. Dr Ronald Ross Mosquito Malaria India and the Nobel Prize: an untold story of the First Indian Nobel Laureate is a unique book incorporating fables unrecounted so far and written in simple and lucid language. His life is an inspiration to budding scientists all over the world.
