The Building Of Liverpool Cathedral:

The Building of Liverpool Cathedral Peter Kennerley, 1991 The Building of Liverpool Cathedral Peter Kennerley, 2017-08-14 The Building of the New Liverpool Cathedral, 1911 A History of the Church through its Buildings Allan Doig, 2020-12-10

The History of the Church through its Buildings takes the reader to meet people who lived through momentous religious changes in the very spaces where the story of the Church took shape Buildings are about people the people who conceived designed financed and used them Their stories become embedded in the very fabric itself and as the fabric is changed through time in response to changing use relationships and beliefs the architecture becomes the standing history of passing waves of humanity This process takes on special significance in churches where the arrangement of the space places members of the community in relationship with one another for the performance of the church s rites and ceremonies Moreover architectural forms and building materials can be used to establish relationships with other buildings in other places and other times Coordinated systems of signs symbols and images proclaim beliefs and doctrine and in a wider sense carry extended narratives of the people and their faith Looking at the history of the church through its buildings allows us to establish a tangible connection to the lives of the people involved in some of the key moments and movements that shaped that history and perhaps even a degree of intimacy with them Standing in the same place where the worshippers of the past preached and taught or in a space they built as a memorial touching the stone they placed or marking their final resting place holding a keepsake they treasured or seeing a relic they venerated probably comes as close to a shared experience with these people as it is possible to come Perhaps for a fleeting moment at such times their faces may come more clearly into focus The Liverpool Cathedral Building and Endowment Appeal, 1955 Liverpool Cathedral Development Committee, 1955 The Building News and Engineering Journal, 1925 The Secret History of Liverpool Cathedral Geoffrey Johnson, 2016-11-28

Before the author started building a model of Liverpool Cathedral in 1994 he had to research its history and architecture Of all the published information one book stands out as by far the most useful It is Vere E Cotton s work The Book of Liverpool Cathedral published by Liverpool University Press in 1964 on behalf of the Cathedral Committee but at the time the book was written construction of the Nave had only just begun and needed supplementing with photographs Because the project made the author look at the Cathedral from a viewpoint other than at its architecture he discovered the secret purpose of and the motivation behind the radical redesign of 1910 In his book Cotton virtually admits that he was mystified at some aspects of the building Strangely it also contained the clues which helped the author resolve the mystery although Cotton seemed not to have been aware of them So this work is the sequel to The Book of Liverpool Cathedral as it reveals the architect s secret and explains how and why the present design evolved which Cotton was unable to do Lancashire: Liverpool and the Southwest Richard Pollard, Nikolaus Pevsner, Joseph Sharples, 2006-01-01

This book is based on sections of Nikolaus Pevsner s South Lancashire and North Lancashire both published in 1969
