transportation companies were booming the find thousands of men were rushing into the Northland These men wanted dogs and the dogs they wanted were heavy dogs with strong muscles by which to toil and furry coats to protect them from the frost Buck lived at a big house in the sun kissed Santa Clara Valley Judge Miller s place it was called It stood back from the road half hidden among the trees through which glimpses could be caught of the wide cool veranda that ran around its four sides The house was approached by gravelled driveways which wound about through wide spreading lawns and under the interlacing boughs of tall poplars At the rear things were on even a more spacious scale than at the front There were great stables where a dozen grooms and boys held forth rows of vine clad servants cottages an endless and orderly array of outhouses long grape arbors green pastures orchards and berry patches Then there was the pumping plant for the artesian well and the big cement tank where Judge Miller s boys took their morning plunge and kept cool in the hot afternoon And over this great demesne Buck ruled Here he was born and here he had lived the four years of his life It was true there were other dogs There could not but be other dogs on so vast a place but they did not count They came and went resided in the populous kennels or lived obscurely in the recesses of the house after the fashion of Toots the Japanese pug or Ysabel the Mexican hairless strange creatures that rarely put nose out of doors or set foot to ground On the other hand there were the fox terriers a score of them at least who yelped fearful promises at Toots and Ysabel looking out of the windows at them and protected by a legion of housemaids armed with brooms and mops But Buck was neither house dog nor kennel dog The whole realm was his He plunged into the swimming tank or went hunting with the Judge s sons he escorted Mollie and Alice the Judge s daughters on long twilight or early morning rambles on wintry nights he lay at the Judge s feet before the roaring library fire he carried the Judge s grandsons on his back or rolled them in the grass and guarded their footsteps through wild adventures down to the fountain in the stable yard and even beyond where the paddocks were and the berry patches Among the terriers he stalked imperiously and Toots and Ysabel he utterly ignored for he was king king over all creeping crawling flying things of Judge Miller s place humans included
