Testaments Two Novellas Of Emigration And Exile:

Testaments Danuta Mostwin, 2005 Deeply melancholy and moving in its unsentimental depiction of ordinary people trying to make sense of their uprooted lives Testaments presents two novellas Polish migrants have written poignantly about the pain of exile in letters diaries and essays others more recently have recreated Polish American communities in works of fiction But it is Danuta Mostwin's fiction until now unavailable in English translation that bridges the divide between Poland and America exile and emigration Mostwin and her husband survived the ravages of World War II traveled to Britain and then emigrated to the United States Mostwin devoted her scholarly career to the study of immigrants trapped between cultural worlds Winner of international awards for her fiction Danuta Mostwin here offers two novellas translated by the late Marta Erdman which are the first of her works published in English in the United States Deeply melancholic and moving in its unsentimental depiction of ordinary people trying to make sense of their uprooted lives Testaments presents two powerful vignettes of life in immigrant America The Last Will of Blaise Twardowski and Jocasta This timely publication provides an introduction to Mostwin's work that will ensure that she is recognized as the creator of one of the most nuanced and deeply moving pictures of emigration and exile in Polish American literature

Przekładaniec, 2 (2010) vol 24 - English Version , Writing the Polish American Woman in Postwar Ethnic Fiction Grażyna J. Kozaczka, 2019-02-26 Though often unnoticed by scholars of literature and history Polish American women have for decades been fighting back against the patriarchy they encountered in America and the patriarchy that followed them from Poland Through close readings of several Polish American and Polish Canadian novels and short stories published over the last seven decades Writing the Polish American Woman in Postwar Ethnic Fiction traces the evolution of this struggle and women's efforts to construct gendered and classed ethnicity Focusing predominantly on work by North American born and immigrant authors that represents the Polish American Catholic tradition Grażyna J Kozaczka puts texts in conversation with other American ethnic literatures She positions ethnic gender construction and performance at an intersection of social class race and sex She explores the marginalization of ethnic female characters in terms of migration studies theories of whiteness and the history of feminist discourse Writing the Polish American Woman in Postwar Ethnic Fiction tells the complex story of how Polish American women writers have shown a strong awareness of their oppression and sought empowerment through resistive and transgressive behaviors The Origins of Modern Polish Democracy M. B. B. Biskupski, James S. Pula, Piotr J. Wróbel, 2010-04-15 The Origins of Modern Polish Democracy is a series of closely integrated essays that traces the idea of democracy in Polish thought and practice It begins with the transformative events of the mid nineteenth century which witnessed revolutionary developments in the socioeconomic and demographic structure of Poland and continues through changes that marked the postcommunist era of free Poland The idea of democracy survived in Poland through long periods of foreign occupation the trials of two world wars and years of Communist subjugation Whether in Poland itself or among exiles Polish speculation about the creation of a liberal democratic Poland has been central to modern Polish political thought. This volume is unique in that it traces the evolution of the idea of democracy both during the periods when Poland was an independent country 1918-1939 and during the periods of foreign occupation before 1918 through World War II and the Communist era. For those periods when Poland was not free, the volume discusses how the idea of democracy evolved among exile and underground Polish circles. This important work is the only single volume in English language history of modern Polish democratic thought and parliamentary systems and represents the latest scholarly research by leading specialists from Europe and North America.

Colonial Fantasies, Imperial Realities Lenny A. Ureña Valerio, 2019-08-28

In Colonial Fantasies, Imperial Realities, Lenny Ureña Valerio offers a transnational approach to Polish-German relations and nineteenth-century colonial subjectivities. She investigates key cultural dynamics in the history of medicine, colonialism, and migration that bring Germany and Prussian Poland closer to the colonial and postcolonial worlds in Africa and Latin America. She also analyzes how Poles in the German Empire positioned themselves in relation to Germans and native populations in overseas colonies. She thus recasts Polish perspectives and experiences, allowing new insights into identity formation and nationalist movements within the German Empire. Crucially, Ureña Valerio also studies the medical projects and scientific ideas that traveled from colonies to the German metropole and vice versa, which were influential not only in the racialization of Slavic populations but also in bringing scientific conceptions of race to the everydayness of the German Empire. As a whole, Colonial Fantasies, Imperial Realities illuminates nested imperial and colonial relations using sources that range from medical texts and state documents to travel literature and fiction. By studying these scientific and political debates, Ureña Valerio uncovers novel ways to connect medicine, migration, and colonialism and provides an invigorating model for the analysis of Polish history from a global perspective.

The Borders of Integration Brian McCook, 2011-04-13

The issues of immigration and integration are at the forefront of contemporary politics. Yet debates over foreign workers and the desirability of their incorporation into European and American societies too often are discussed without a sense of history. McCook's examination questions static assumptions about race and white immigrant assimilation a hundred years ago, highlighting how the Polish immigrant experience is relevant to present-day immigration debates on both sides of the Atlantic. Further, his research shows the complexity of attitudes toward immigration in Germany and the United States, challenging historical myths surrounding German national identity and the American melting pot. In a comparative study of Polish migrants who settled in the Ruhr Valley and northeastern Pennsylvania, McCook shows that in both regions Poles become active citizens within their host societies through engagement in social conflict within the public sphere to defend their ethnic, class, gender, and religious interests. While adapting to the Ruhr and northeastern Pennsylvania, Poles simultaneously retained strong bonds with Poland through remittances, the exchange of letters, newspapers, and frequent return migration. In this analysis of migration in a globalizing world, McCook highlights the multifaceted ways in which immigrants integrate into society, focusing in particular on how Poles created and utilized transnational spaces to mobilize and attain authentic and more permanent identities grounded in newer broadly conceived notions of citizenship

An Ordinary Life? Anna Müller, 2023-03-07 One woman's national political ethnic social and personal identities impart an extraordinary perspective on the histories of Europe Polish Jews Communism activism and survival during the twentieth century Tonia Lechtman was a Jew a loving mother and wife a Polish patriot a committed Communist and a Holocaust survivor Throughout her life these identities brought her to multiple countries Poland Palestine Spain France Germany Switzerland and Israel during some of the most pivotal and cataclysmic decades of the twentieth century In most of those places she lived on the margins of society while working to promote Communism and trying to create a safe space for her small children Born in d in 1918 Lechtman became fascinated with Communism in her early youth In 1935 to avoid the consequences of her political activism during an increasingly antisemitic and hostile political environment the family moved to Palestine where Tonia met her future husband Sioma In 1937 the couple traveled to Spain to participate in the Spanish Civil War After discovering she was pregnant Lechtman relocated to France while Sioma joined the International Brigades She spent the Second World War in Europe traveling with two small children between France Germany and Switzerland at times only miraculously avoiding arrest and being transported east to Nazi camps After the war she returned to Poland where she planned to re build Communist Poland However soon after her arrival she was imprisoned for six years In 1971 under pressure from her children Lechtman emigrated from Poland to Israel where she died in 1996 In writing Lechtman's biography Anna Müller has consulted a rich collection of primary source material including archival documentation private documents and photographs interviews from different periods of Lechtman's life and personal correspondence Despite this intimacy Müller also acknowledges key historiographical questions arising from the lacunae of lost materials the selective preservation of others and her own interpretive work translating a life into a life story

The Clash of Moral Nations Eva Plach, 2006 Publisher Description

The Law of the Looking Glass Sheila Skaff, 2008 The Law of the Looking Glass Cinema in Poland 1896 1939 reveals the complex relationship between nationhood national language and national cinema in Europe before World War II Author Sheila Skaff describes how the major issues facing the region before World War I from the relatively slow pace of modernization to the desire for national sovereignty shaped local practices in film production exhibition and criticism She goes on to analyze local film production practices of spectatorship in large cities and small towns clashes over language choice in intertitles and controversy surrounding the first synchronized sound experiments before World War I Skaff depicts the creation of a national film industry in the newly independent country the golden years of the silent cinema the transition from silent to sound film and debates in the press over this transition as well as the first Polish and Yiddish talkies She places particular importance on conflicts in majority minority relations in the region and the types of collaboration that led to important films such as The Dybbuk and The Ghosts

The Law of the Looking Glass Cinema in Poland 1896 1939 is the first comprehensive history of the country's film industry before World War II This history is characterized by alternating periods of multilingual multiethnic production on the one hand and rejection of such inclusiveness on the other Through it all however runs a single unifying thread an appreciation for visual imagery
