Tetsuo Ii Bodyhammer:

Walking Between Slums and Skyscrapers Tsung-Yi Michelle Huang, 2004-03-01 The book is concerned with the effects of globalization on living space i.e. the space of everyday life focusing specifically on East Asian metropolises such as Hong Kong Tokyo and Shanghai Globalization has given rise to accessible catch phrases such as the global village and this is a small world In each part of the book the author juxtaposes a social account of the city's urban space as it has been reshaped by the process of globalization with a private account of the urban landscape as experienced by its walkers as represented in the films of Wong Kar wai and Shinya Tsukamoto and the novels of Wang Anyi Rather than rest here the author wishes to show that for many of the inhabitants of the new global city the shrinking world phenomenon is deeply literal the lived space of everyday life is shrinking to make room for rezoning construction of new infrastructures space modification all in the name of urban development

Japanese Cinema and Punk Mark Player, 2025-05-15 In Japanese Cinema and Punk Mark Player examines how the do it yourself ethos of punk empowered a new generation of Japanese filmmakers during a period of crisis and change in Japan's film industry Drawing on rare materials and first hand interviews with key figures from the jishu eiga self made film tradition including Ishii Gakuryu formerly Ishii Sogo Yamamoto Masashi Tsukamoto Shin ya and Fukui Shozin Player explores how punk's bricolage style was leveraged to create exciting intermedial film aesthetics These aesthetics were influenced by rock music graffiti art street performance handmade animation television and other mass media By considering the practical phenomenological and political ramifications of combining diverse media elements Player offers in depth analyses of films such as Burst City 1982 Robinson's Garden 1987 Tetsuo The Iron Man 1989 and more He further traces the changing sociocultural position of Japan's punk generation throughout the 1980s from its euphoric early 80s peak to the growing disillusionment caused by its mainstream co optation and convergence

Collaborative and Distributed Processes in Contemporary Music-Making Richard Glover, Lauren Redhead, 2020-04-09 This volume represents the second proceedings of the Royal Musical Association's RMA Music and as Process Study Group It is not surprising that a large number of the contributors to the Music and as Process Study Group are active practitioners in the performance and composition of contemporary music The collaborations documented here represent the bringing together of disciplines joint work between practitioners who contribute their own specific areas of expertise to a composite creative activity and work that crosses disciplines in order to make a critical comment in each of them In this collection these three types of collaborative work describe an increasing amount of contemporary music practice In addition to the increasing involvement of practice in research the understanding and prevalence of practice methodologies in the form of practice research has also increased in musicology This volume reflects these concerns through contributions from authors who are all active practitioners in their respective fields of music performance composition improvisation and conducting The diversity of these contributions shows the variety of processes and practices that are currently being undertaken by proponents of the field of contemporary music These essays provide a snapshot of the current collaborative and distributed processes that are employed by today's contemporary music practitioners The chapters contained in this volume reveal the varied nature of the approaches to creativity in music making and the ways that these are distributed across its practitioners during each stage of the development of musical works

Flowers from Hell Jim Harper, 2008 Over the past decade Japan has become a key player on the contemporary horror scene producing some of the most influential and critically respected genre movies of recent years Whether it's the subtle chills of Ring the graphic brutality of Audition or the zombie fuelled mayhem of Versus leading Japanese horror has had a major impact throughout the world From its origins in the mid 80s to the multi million dollar franchises of today Flowers from Hell traces the evolution of this consistently inventive and influential horror phenomenon

Asian Horror Andy Richards, 2010-08-01 Since Japanese horror sensations The Ring and Audition first terrified Western audiences at the turn of the millennium there's been a growing appreciation of Asia as the hotbed of the world's best horror movies Over the last decade Japan South Korea Thailand and Hong Kong have all produced a steady stream of stylish supernatural thrillers and psychological chillers that have set new benchmarks for cinematic scares Hollywood soon followed suit producing high profile remakes of films such as The Ring Dark Water The Grudge and The Eye With scores of Asian horror films now available to Western audiences this guide helps viewers navigate the eclectic mix of vengeful spooks yakuza zombies feuding warlocks and devilish dumplings discussing the grand themes of Asian horror cinema and the distinctive national histories that give the films their special resonance Tracing the long and noble tradition of horror stories in eastern cultures it also delves into some of the folktales that have influenced this latest wave of shockers paying tribute to classic Asian ghost films throughout the ages
