Explorations in Christology John Anthony Sullivan, 1987 The classical Hellenic concept of God as self-consistent incapable of internal mutability and passionality is rejected by process theologians on the basis of the immediacy of lived experience and the biblical witness All actual reality is relational Process theologians attempt to arrive at modern Christological statements which would do justice to the central intention of traditional creedal affirmations If Christ can be considered the image of creative transformation in the context of contemporary theological pluralism even Paul Tillich's category of existentialist ontology is adaptable The cosmological image of Christ is compatible with the ontological symbol of New Being in Jesus as the Christ The consequences for exploratory Christological affirmations to account for God's unique presence in Jesus the Christ are appealing to modernity
