Utopian England Dennis Hardy, 2012-12-06 England in the early part of the twentieth century was rich in utopian ventures diverse and intriguing in their scope and aims Two world wars an economic depression and the emergence of fascist states in Europe were all a spur to idealists to seek new limits to escape from the here and now and to create sanctuaries for new and better lives Dennis Hardy explores this fascinating history of utopian ideals the lives of those who pursued them and the utopian communities they created Some communities were fired by a long tradition of land movements others by thoughts of more humane ways of building towns In turn there were experiments devoted to the arts to the promotion of religious doctrine and to a variety of political causes And some were just places of the imagination Utopian England is about just one episode in the perennial search for perfection but what is revealed has lessons that extend well beyond a particular time and place So long as there are failings in society so long as rationality is not enough there will continue to be a place for thinking the impossible for going in search of utopia

The Garden City Movement Up-To-Date Ewart Gladstone Culpin, 2015-03-05 This work was written and compiled by the then Secretary of the Garden Cities and Town Planning Association in 1913 It shows just how much the conception of the garden city had been broadened from Howard's original texts Indeed the Association's own name had been broadened to add the newly emergent practice and theory of town planning to the original focus Alongside the garden city recognition is now given to the burgeoning numbers of garden suburbs and garden villages Many examples of these are identified and briefly described including many which are small and now little known greatly adding to the interest of the publication Even the underlying arguments for such developments differ Alongside the more altruistic arguments in favour of reform there are now those which explicitly emphasise the need to ensure a healthy race to maintain the Empire

Ecology and the Literature of the British Left H. Gustav Klaus, Valentine Cunningham, 2016-04-29 Premised on the belief that a social and an ecological agenda are compatible this collection offers readings in the ecology of left and radical writing from the Romantic period to the present While early ecocriticism tended to elide the bitter divisions within and between societies recent practitioners of ecofeminism environmental justice and social ecology have argued that the social the economic and the environmental have to be seen as part of the same process Taking up this challenge the contributors trace the origins of an environmental sensibility and of the modern left to their roots in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries charting the ways in which the literary imagination responds to the political industrial and agrarian revolutions Topics include Samuel Taylor Coleridge's credentials as a green writer the interaction between John Ruskin's religious and political ideas and his changing view of nature William Morris and the Garden City movement H G Wells and the Fabians the devastated landscapes in the poetry and fiction of the First World War and the leftist pastoral poetry of the 1930s In historicizing and connecting environmentally sensitive literature with socialist thought these essays explore the interactive vision of nature and society in the work of writers ranging from William Wordsworth and John Clare to John Berger and John Burnside from Loïc Wacquant's hypothesis of advanced marginality and territorial stigmatisation the book explores the genesis and development of the notorious neighbourhood of Copenhagen North West As an extraordinary place the North West provides an illustrative case of Danish welfare and urban history that questions the epitome of inclusive Copenhagen Through detailed empirical analysis the book spotlights three angles and entanglements of the social history of this area of Copenhagen the production of socio-spatial constructions and authoritative categorisations of the neighbourhood especially by the state and the media the local social pedagogical interventions and symbolic boundary drawings by welfare agencies in the neighbourhood and the residents' subjective experiences of place social divisions and dishonour In this way The Making of Place and People in the Danish Metropolis analyses how social, symbolical and spatial structures dynamically intertwine and contribute to the fashioning of divisions of inequality and marginality in the city over the course of some 125 years It will appeal to scholars of sociology urban studies and urban history with interests in social welfare
