

What is a surplus product?

In the intricate process of hand block-printing, embroidery work and stitching, variations are likely to come into existence. These irregularities are the hallmark of all handmade products and give each style a unique identity. Each FG garment undergoes our rigorous 7-layer Quality Check.

If a piece falls under the Surplus section, it is only an indication that these garments might have minor inconsistencies like warp and weft, distressed printing or minor colour variations-usually caught by a trained eye. These garments are made by artisans with an equal amount of love and passion as any of our other pieces.
