Russell Monson, Dennis Baldocchi

Terrestrial Biosphere:

The Terrestrial Biosphere and Global Change Brian Walker, 1999-03-25 Summarises understanding of global change interactions with terrestrial ecosystems Global Change and the Terrestrial Biosphere H. H. Shugart, F. I. Woodward, 2011-06-13 Global climate change challenges ecologists to synthesize what we know to solve a problem with deep historical roots in our discipline In ecology the question How do terrestrial ecosystems interact with the other earth systems to produce planetary change has sufficient depth to be the focal challenge This central question is sharpened further as the changes that we may be manifesting upon our planet s systems of land sea air and ice can have potential consequences for the future of human civilization This book provides the depth of the history of global ecology and reviews the breadth of the ideas being studied today Each chapter starts with a brief narrative about a scientist whose work traces forward into today s issues in global ecosystems The discussions are framed in a growing realization that we may be altering the way our planet functions almost before we have gained the necessary knowledge of how it works at all Terrestrial

Biosphere-Atmosphere Fluxes Russell Monson, Dennis Baldocchi, 2014-03-06 This book provides graduate students and researchers with tools to understand and quantitatively analyse biosphere atmosphere fluxes of trace gases water and energy

The Terrestrial Biosphere S.T. Trudgill, 2014-09-25 Terrestrial Biosphere tries to pose the questions which underlie the many sided debate of how to respond to and influence change How should we view nature What do we do for the best how should we act what are we trying to achieve and what should we be guided by In doing so the book introduces and attempts to analyse not only scientific aspects of the debate but also cultural attitudes and values the notions of ecosystem stability are now challenged and it is also clear that ecosystems are renewable but not repeatable It finds that prescriptive solutions based on current constructs may not be adequate Feeling that analysis should lead to advocacy the author believes that if we can t improve predictability we have to increase adaptability which means that ecological and social capacity building should be advocated This is seen in terms of concepts institutions attitudes and values which allow for a plurality of meanings and which can cope with surprise and unforeseen change and which also facilitates responses to change Global Biomass

Burning Joel S. Levine, 1991 This comprehensive volume is the first to consider biomass burning as a global phenomenon and to assess its impact on the atmosphere on climate and on the biosphere itself Introduction to Atmospheric Chemistry

Daniel J. Jacob, 1999-12-21 Atmospheric chemistry is one of the fastest growing fields in the earth sciences Until now however there has been no book designed to help students capture the essence of the subject in a brief course of study Daniel Jacob a leading researcher and teacher in the field addresses that problem by presenting the first textbook on atmospheric chemistry for a one semester course Based on the approach he developed in his class at Harvard Jacob introduces students in clear and concise chapters to the fundamentals as well as the latest ideas and findings in the field Jacob s aim is to show students how to use basic principles of physics and chemistry to describe a complex system such as the atmosphere He also seeks to give students an overview of the current state of research and the work that led to this point Jacob begins with atmospheric structure design of simple models atmospheric transport and the continuity equation and continues with geochemical cycles the greenhouse effect aerosols stratospheric ozone the oxidizing power of the atmosphere smog and acid rain Each chapter concludes with a problem set based on recent scientific literature This is a novel approach to problem set writing and one that successfully introduces students to the prevailing issues This is a major contribution to a growing area of study and will be welcomed enthusiastically by students and teachers alike Paleoclimate, Global

Change and the Future Keith D. Alverson, Raymond S. Bradley, Thomas F. Pedersen, 2013-04-17 This book provides a synthesis of the past decade of research into global changes that occurred in the earth system in the past Focus is achieved by concentrating on those changes in the Earth's past environment that best inform our evaluation of current and future global changes and their consequences for human populations The book stands as a ten year milestone in the operation of the Past Global Changes PAGES Project of the International Geosphere Biosphere Programme IGBP It seeks to provide a quantitative understanding of the Earth's environment in the geologically recent past and to define the envelope of natural environmental variability against which anthropogenic impacts on the Earth System may be assessed A set of color overhead transparencies based on the figures in the book is available free on the PAGES website www.pages.igbp.org for use in teaching and lecturing Vegetation Dynamics & Global Change Allen M. Solomon, Herman H. Shugart, 2012-12-06

During the summer of 1987 a series of discussions I was held at the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis nASA in Laxenburg Austria to plan a study of global vegetation change The work was aimed at promoting the International Geosphere Biosphere Programme IGBP sponsored by the International Council of Scientific Unions ICSU of which nASA is a member Our study was designed to provide initial guidance in the choice of approaches data sets and objectives for constructing global models of the terrestrial biosphere We hoped to provide substantive and concrete assistance in formulating the working plans of IGBP by involving program planners in the development and application of models which were assembled from available data sets and modeling approaches Recent acceptance of the nASA model as the starting point for endeavors of the Global Change and Terrestrial Ecosystems Core Project of the IGBP suggests we were successful in that aim The objective was implemented by our initiation of a mathematical model of global vegetation including agriculture as defined by the forces which control and change vegetation The model was to illustrate the geographical consequences to vegetation structure and functioning of changing climate and land use based on plant responses to environmental variables The completed model was also expected to be useful for examining international environmental policy responses to global change as well as for studying the validity of IIASA's experimental approaches to environmental policy development Our Changing Planet Climate Change Science Program (U.S.), U.S. Global Change Research Program.), 1989

The Global Carbon Cycle Christopher B. Field, Michael R. Raupach, 2012-09-26 While a number of gases are implicated in global warming carbon dioxide is the most important contributor and in one sense the entire phenomena can be seen as a human induced perturbation of the carbon cycle The Global Carbon Cycle offers a scientific assessment of the state of current knowledge of the carbon cycle by the world s leading scientists sponsored by SCOPE and the Global Carbon Project and other international partners It gives an introductory over view of the carbon cycle with multidisciplinary contributions covering biological physical and social science aspects Included are 29 chapters covering topics including an assessment of carbon climate human interactions a portfolio of carbon management options spatial and temporal distribution of sources and sinks of carbon dioxide socio economic driving forces of emissions scenarios Throughout contributors emphasize that all parts of the carbon cycle are interrelated and only by developing a framework that considers the full set of feedbacks will we be able to achieve a thorough understanding and develop effective management strategies The Global Carbon Cycle edited by Christopher B Field and Michael R Raupach is part of the Rapid Assessment Publication series produced by the Scientific Committee on Problems of the Environment SCOPE in an effort to quickly disseminate the collective knowledge of the world s leading experts on topics of pressing environmental concern
