Spaces of Enslavement Andrea C. Mosterman, 2021-10-15 In Spaces of Enslavement Andrea C Mosterman addresses the persistent myth that the colonial Dutch system of slavery was more humane Investigating practices of enslavement in New Netherland and then in New York Mosterman shows that these ways of racialized spatial control held much in common with the southern plantation societies In the 1620s Dutch colonial settlers brought slavery to the banks of the Hudson River and founded communities from New Amsterdam in the south to Beverwijck near the terminus of the navigable river When Dutch power in North America collapsed and the colony came under English control in 1664 Dutch descendants continued to rely on enslaved labor Until 1827 when slavery was abolished in New York State slavery expanded in the region with all free New Yorkers benefitting from that servitude Mosterman describes how the movements of enslaved persons were controlled in homes and in public spaces such as workshops courts and churches She addresses how enslaved people responded to regimes of control by escaping from or modifying these spaces so as to expand their activities within them Through a close analysis of homes churches and public spaces Mosterman shows that over the course of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the region s Dutch communities were engaged in a daily struggle with Black New Yorkers who found ways to claim freedom and resist oppression Spaces of Enslavement writes a critical and overdue chapter on the place of slavery and resistance in the colony and young state of New York Power and Space Josefine Fokdal,2008 Architects are creators of places Spaces are produced by the social practice of the user within places Thus the user is brought into the picture as a producer of space whereas architects are classified as producers of place The book addresses the notion of power relations within undefined spaces of transition through case study documentations and by analyzing individual and common expressions in four social housing projects in greater Copenhagen Understanding the struggle of power relations can help identify an interest articulated by the user The articulations are made by means of additions that are placed within the spaces of transition The conclusion that can be drawn is that power relations should be recognized by architects as a phenomenon of the dominating aspect of architecture Neglecting to consider this domination in the conception of residential housing projects has a large impact on the user and his her possibilities for practicing social interactions Advanced Musical Performance: Investigations in Higher Education Learning Ioulia Papageorgi,Graham Welch,2016-03-23 To reach the highest standards of instrumental performance several years of sustained and focused learning are required This requires perseverance commitment and opportunities to learn and practise often in a collective musical environment This book brings together a wide range of enlightening current psychological and educational research to offer deeper insights into the mosaic of factors and related experiences that combine to nurture and sometimes hinder advanced musical performance Each of the book s four sections focus on one aspect of music performance and learning musics in higher education and beyond musical journeys and educational reflections performance learning and developing expertise and professionalism Although each chapter within its home section offers a particular focus there is an underlying conception across all the book s contents of the achievability of advanced musical performance and of the important nurturing role that higher education can play particularly if policy and practice are evidence based and draw on the latest international research findings The narrative offers an insight into the world of advanced musicians detailing their learning journeys and the processes involved in their quest for the development of expertise and professionalism It is the first book of its kind to consider performance learning in higher education across a variety of musical genres including classical jazz popular and folk musics The editors have invited an international community of leading scholars and performance practitioners to contribute to this publication which draws on meticulous research and critical practice This collection is an essential resource for all musicians educators researchers and policy makers who share our interest in promoting the development of advanced performance skills and professionalism Privatizing Peace Wendy N.
