Testimony Of Lives Narrative And Memory In Post Soviet Latvia:

The Testimony of Lives Vieda Skultans, 2002-11 In 1944 Skultans left Latvia as a refugee In 1990 she returned for the first time This book is both a personal account of a homecoming and an anthropology of a nation trying to come to terms with its past and facing an uncertain future Memory and Pluralism in the Baltic States Eva-Clarita Pettai, 2014-06-11

Memories both in individual and collective form still have a significant impact on how people relate to political processes in Europe today While much has been written about top down attempts by states and political actors to mould people's memories of the past through public commemoration textbooks or monuments this volume takes a view from below by focusing on different types of societal actors and the ways in which they interact with the political world in order to influence collective memory Presented within a comprehensive conceptual framework the empirical cases focus on three countries of the former Soviet Union Estonia Latvia and Lithuania They show that different or even antagonistic perceptions of the recent past not only appear between different ethnic groups but also between socio economic groups different age groups or generations as well as between women and men Moreover they give an impressive account on the multiple ways in which these perceptions empower individuals and groups to seek greater influence in the construction of collective memory The volume therefore not only provides a valuable and fresh perspective on the relationship between social memory and democratic politics but also contributes to post Communist regional studies in the enlarged European Union This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Baltic Studies , Hard Labour: The Forgotten Voices of Latvian

Migrant 'Volunteer' Workers Linda McDowell, 2013-09-05 Although the Second World War ended sixty years ago there are still untold stories waiting to be heard stories not only of diplomats and soldiers but also of refugees camp inmates and ordinary people living in occupied territories stories of women's and children's lives as well as those of men In Hard Labour the forgotten voices of a group of young women who left Latvia in 1944 are captured telling the story of their flight from the advancing Soviet Army their difficult journeys across central Europe their lives as displaced people in Allied camps in Germany and finally their refuge in Britain Hard work is at the centre of these stories as the women became volunteer workers first for the Nazi war effort and then as labourers in the British post war reconstruction plan In what has been described as a venomous postscript to the War the fit and able amongst the vast homeless and often stateless population that fetched up in camps run by the Allies in war devastated Germany were recruited by western states as labourers Great Britain was the first nation to recruit displaced persons offering jobs in hospitals and private homes as domestic workers and in the textile industry to young single women and later men from Latvia Lithuania and Estonia and other once independent states Many of these women spent the rest of their lives in Britain longing to return to their homelands but independence came too late for many of them At the centre of Hard Labour are the lives of twenty five now elderly Latvia women who came to Britain between 1946 and 1949 Their memories are placed in the context of recent work in feminist history illuminating debates about displacement and loss as well as the transformation of women's lives in post war Britain

The Interview Jonathan Skinner, 2014-01-29 What are new interview methods and practices in our new interview society and how do they relate to traditional social science research This volume interrogates the interview as understood used and under used by anthropologists It puts the interview itself in the hotseat by exploring the nature of the interview interview techniques and illustrative cases of interview use What is a successful and representative interview How are interviews best transcribed and integrated into our writing Is interview knowledge production safe ethical and representative And how are interviews used by anthropologists in their ethnographic practice This important volume leads the reader from an initial scrutiny of the interview to interview techniques and illustrative case studies It is experimental innovative and covers in detail matters such as awkwardness silence and censorship in interviews that do not feature in general interview textbooks It will appeal to social scientists engaged in qualitative research methods in general and anthropology and sociology students using interviews in their research and writing in particular

Balkan Life Courses Klaus Roth, Milena Benovska (Eds.) ,2019 The historical upheavals in Southeast Europe since the early 20th century brought about deep transformations of people's life courses The concept of life course enables the understanding of human lives within their socio cultural and political contexts stressing people's everyday experiences and agency The papers in this volume discuss problems such as the impact of migration and mobility on families such as economic migration transforming traditional structures into individualistic strategies Other papers give examples of ruptures of life worlds caused by the impact of dramatic historical events Demonstrating the agency of actors instead of presenting them as passive victims some authors present approaches that are innovative for the region Apart from various forms of migration and their impact on life courses the volume also includes contributions on the role of religion and social memory in the family

Explorations in Baltic Medical History, 1850-2015 Nils Hansson, Jonatan Wistrand, 2019 This book explores the history of medicine in the Baltic Sea region and provides different answers to one central question How has the circulation of knowledge in the Baltic Sea region influenced medicine as a discipline and illness as an experience during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries From synopsis

Thinking Peaceful Change Frank Möller, 2007-02-09 Frank Möller explores why the states and societies of the Baltic Sea region have not yet evolved into a security community despite the area undergoing since the mid 1980s considerable change with little turmoil This book focuses on the tensions resulting from policies in the Baltic states aiming at an increase in both security and sovereignty Möller shows how these states' attempts at increasing their security were intricately bound up with their efforts at autonomous nation state building Möller argues that a primary obstacle to security community building was the construction of nation states based upon an exceedingly traditional template emphasizing the connection between the state sovereignty and military security The Baltic states aspired to NATO membership amid unique challenges such as the perceived threat of renascent Russian imperialism and the perseverance of a collective memory emphasizing anti Soviet resistance M ller also examines such key issues as the demise of the Soviet Union the nonviolent withdrawal of Russian troops from the Baltic states and U S foreign policy in northern Europe Here is a profound multifaceted look at issues of security in the contemporary world a crucial tool for researchers and students of peace and conflict studies

Photography, Memory, and Refugee Identity Lynda Mannik, 2013-04-20 In 1948 a small ship carrying Estonian refugees arrived at Pier 21 in Halifax In this absorbing work anthropologist Lynda Mannik analyzes the refugee experience through the photographic record of those who made that harrowing voyage Drawing on a collection of photographs taken during the voyage and at Pier 21 Mannik asks surviving passengers to describe their journey their reception in Canada and to what extent the photos reflect their experiences as they remember them The photographs in the SS Walnut collection she argues bear witness to the refugee experience even as the meanings attached to them have changed over time and in shifting contexts

Re-contextualising East Central European History Robert Pyrah, 2017-12-02 Twenty years after the fall of Communism scholarship on East Central Europe has adopted mainstream western methodologies but remains preoccupied with a narrow range of themes Nationalism identity fin de siecle art and culture and revisionist historiography dominate the field to the detriment of other subjects Using a variety of lenses literary political linguistic medical the authors address a conspectus of original themes including Jewish literary life in interwar Romania the Galician Alphabet War and Saxon eugenics in Transylvania These case studies transcend their East Central European context by engaging with conceptually broad questions This volume additionally contains a comprehensive Introduction and topical Bibliography of use to students and teachers resulting in one of the most creative collections of studies dealing with East Central Europe to date This volume has its roots in an interdisciplinary seminar at the University of Oxford bringing together emerging and established scholars with the explicit aim of broadening the study of this region its history and culture beyond the established paradigms Robert Pyrah is a Research Fellow at St Antony s College and an authority on theatre and cultural politics in Austria and post Habsburg central Europe Marius Turda is founder of the International Working Group on the History of Race and Eugenics based at Oxford Brookes University
