Tetum Ghosts Kin Fieldwork In An Indon:

Tetum Ghosts and Kin David Hicks, 2003-08-12 In the second edition of this study of religion and kinship in East Timor David Hicks argues that reproductive rituals and ideas regarding fertility and gender direct the notion that for the Tetum speaking people of Caraubalo suku in the district of Viqueque life and death derive from the same source This source is the world of the ancestral ghosts the mate bein The soul of a person the klamar mate who has died becomes transformed by ritual action into an agency for life affirming fertility that is an ancestral ghost and it is from the ancestors that fertility which sustains life down the generations originates Incorporated into this complex of ideas regarding life fertility gender and death are two recreational institutions cockfighting and kick fighting which Dr Hicks argues are ritualized manifestations of fertility and infertility respectively as well as gendered aspects of the sacred lulik and secular sau worlds In addition to contributing to the comparative study of ritual and indigenous notions of reproduction the second edition of Tetum Ghosts and Kin Fertility and Gender in East Timor provides an ethnographic portrait of village life among a people whose traditions were about to be abruptly devastated by war and conquest In a summary retrospect he outlines the events that overtook the East Timorese between the time of his first period of fieldwork and East Timors becoming a nation on May 20 2002 and concludes with a brief description of the present condition of Caraubalo

Tourism, Culture and Development Stroma Cole, 2008 This book provides a holistic multi stakeholder picture of the first twenty years of tourism development in a remote region of Eastern Indonesia It is a rich description of how tourism is intertwined with life in an on western marginal community Based on anthropological methods this ethnography is about tourism and socio cultural change tourists conflict globalisation poverty and powerlessness

East Timor at the Crossroads Peter Carey, G. Carter Bentley, 1995-09-01 In a rapidly changing post Cost War world where many age old conflicts and injustices are at last being put to rights East Timor stands out as a still unresolved tragedy In the past twenty years 1975-95 this former Portuguese colony has been under Indonesian military occupation an occupation responsible for the death of over 200 000 of its inhabitants a third of its pre 1975 population and the destruction of much of its indigenous society Yet despite enormous odds the people of East Timor continue to fight for the independence which was denied them in the mid 1970s Twenty years on there is now a very real chance for a new beginning in East Timor This book which brings together contributions by both East Timorese and Western specialists of East Timor provides a compelling account of the process by which a once isolated and traditional society has been forged into a nation with a deep sense of its own identity rooted in its unique religious cultural linguistic and historical heritage Indonesia is at last beginning to realize the cost of Third World colonialism and its Western allies are becoming less tolerant of its security state methods The last section of this book considers the new diplomatic initiatives which are currently in train under the auspices of the UN to bring about a resolution to the Timor problem without jeopardizing the integrity of the Indonesian Republic An extensive bibliography of titles on East Timor published between 1970 and 1994 will prove especially useful for scholars Rhetoric and the Decolonization and Recolonization of East Timor David Hicks, 2014-09-15 By the end of the 1960s the process of decolonization had practically run its course in Southeast Asia One exception however was tiny Portuguese Timor where notions of self determination and independence had yet to be generated In 1974 the Carnation Revolution in Portugal brought about the end of fifty years of dictatorship and halfway around the world presented a new opportunity to a small ambitious proportion of the Timorese population eager to shape the future of their country This book presents a compelling and original perspective on the critical period of 1974 1975 in the history of East Timor It describes how the language of politics helped to shape the events that brought about the decolonization of Portuguese Timor its brief independence as The Democratic Republic of East Timor and its recolonization by an Asian neighbour Further it challenges the idea that this period of history was infused by the spirit of nationalism in which the majority Timorese partook and which contended with other competing western isms including colonialism communism neo colonialism and fascism In contrast the book argues that the Timorese majority had little understanding of any of these alien political abstractions and that the period can be most effectively explained and understood in terms of the contrast between the political culture of Dili the capital and the political culture of the rest of the country In turn David Hicks highlights how the period of 1974 1975 can offer lessons to government and international policy makers alike who are trying to bring about a transformation in governance from the traditional to the legal and convert individuals from peasants to citizens The result of extensive fieldwork and interviews this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian studies international relations post conflict studies and post colonial studies Inside Austronesian Houses James J. Traube, 2011-12-01 Following the historic 1999 popular referendum East Timor emerged as the first independent sovereign nation of the 21st Century The years since these momentous events have seen an efflorescence of social research across the country drawn by shared interests in the aftermath of the resistance struggle the processes of social recovery and the historic opportunity to pursue field based ethnography following the hiatus of research during 24 years of Indonesian rule 1975 99 This volume brings together a collection of papers from a diverse field of international scholars exploring the multiple ways that East Timorese communities are making and remaking their connections to land and places of ancestral significance The work is explicitly comparative and highlights the different ways Timorese language communities negotiate access and transactions in land disputes and inheritance especially in areas subject to historical displacement and resettlement Consideration is extended to the role of ritual performance and social alliance for inscribing connection and entitlement Emerging through analysis is an appreciation of how relations to land articulated in origin discourses are implicated in the construction of national culture and differential contributions to the struggle for independence The volume is informed by a range of Austronesian cultural themes and highlights the continuing vitality of customary governance and
