Corpus Linguistics and Textual History Percy van Keulen, Willem Th. van Peursen, 2018-07-17 Over the years the use of computers for research has become increasingly important in Biblical Studies However a combination of computational linguistics with diachronic text critical and text historical approaches has hardly ever taken place Quite often there is mutual misunderstanding between computational linguistics and more traditional approaches in the field of linguistics and textual analysis For example in computer assisted research of modern text corpora it is common to treat the text as an unequivocal and unidimensional sequence of characters In Biblical Studies however either text is considered an abstraction the result of a scholarly reconstruction based on the extant textual witnesses Here a fundamental difference in approach reveals itself The present volume tries to overcome the misunderstanding between the various disciplines and to establish how a fruitful interaction of information technology linguistics and textual criticism can contribute to the analysis of ancient texts It addresses questions concerning the confrontation between synchronic and diachronic approaches the role of linguistic analysis in the interpretation of texts and the interaction of linguistic theory and the analysis of linguistic data The first section of this volume contains the papers presented at the CALAP seminar 2003 In the second section different aspects of the interdisciplinary analysis are applied to a selected passage from the Peshitta of Kings
