This book looks into Banti's stance on Italian feminism with a specific focus on her interpretation of the concept of equality as well as of sexual difference. An analysis of a novel A Piercing Cry 1981 and two short stories The Women Are Dying 1951 and Je vous cris d'un pays lointain 1971 explores the aforementioned issues. The book also deals to some extent with the most famous of Banti's works the magnum opus Artemisia 1947. Because A Piercing Cry is a source of autobiographical elements which therefore are particularly significant the conclusions drawn from this novel are later applied to The Women Are Dying and Je vous cris d'un pays lointain. Certainly A Piercing Cry expresses Banti's faith in difference as being that which can preserve woman's identity. By declaring I am a woman writer she distances herself from a feminism of equality that not without oscillations she had supported throughout Artemisia. In so doing she embraces a feminism of difference by adopting this concept herself. Drawing on these considerations the book argues that in both The Women Are Dying and in Je vous cris d'un pays lointain Banti intended to support a personally elaborated and ante litteram feminism of difference.
