Introductory Readings in Anthropology Hilary Callan, Brian Street, Simon Underdown, 2013-05 Anthropology seeks to understand the roots of our common humanity the diversity of cultures and world views and the organisation of social relations and practices As a method of inquiry it embraces an enormous range of topics and as a discipline it covers a multitude of fields and themes as shown in this selection of original writings As an accessible entry point for upper level students and first year undergraduates new to the study of anthropology this reader also offers guidance for teachers in exploring the subject's riches with their students That anthropology is an immensely expansive inquiry of study is demonstrated by the diversity of its topics from nature conservation campaigns to witchcraft beliefs from human evolution to fashion and style and from the repatriation of indigenous human remains to research on literacy There is no single story of anthropology Taken together these fundamental readings are evidence of a contemporary vibrant subject that has much to tell us about all the worlds in which we live Gendered Fields Diane Bell, Pat Caplan, Wazir Jahan Karim, 2013-07-23 Virtually all anthropologists undertaking fieldwork experience emotional difficulties in relating their own personal culture to the field culture The issue of gender arises because ethnographers do fieldwork by establishing relationships and this is done as a person of a particular age sexual orientation belief educational background ethnic identity and class In particular it is done as men and women Gendered Fields examines and explores the progress of feminist anthropology the gendered nature of fieldwork itself and the articulation of gender with other aspects of the self of the ethnographer
