The Ineluctable Sea:

The Ineluctable Sea Edna Meudt, 1975-01-01 The Sea Peter N. Miller, 2013-04-24 The Seabrings together a group of noted contributors to evaluate the different ways in which seas have served as subjects in historiography and asks how this has changed and will change the way history is written The essays in this volume provide exemplary demonstrations of how a sea based history writing that focuses on connectivity networks and individuals describes the horizons and the potential of thalassography the study of the world made by individuals embedded in networks of motion As Peter N Miller contends in his introduction writing about the sea today is a way of partaking in the wider historiographical shift toward microhistory exchange relations networks and above all materiality both literally and figuratively The Sea focuses not on questions of discipline and professionalization as much as on the practice of scholarship the writing and therefore the planning and organizing of histories of the sea A Whole, a Fragment Kurt H. Wolff, 2002-01-01 A Whole A Fragment presents a highly personal experimental work by a great American social theorist Kurt H Wolff In this extended prose poem a text that reads as much as a work of art as important scholarship Wolff has created a work of phenomenology that goes far beyond the typical methods of empirical social science to embrace field work as an extraordinary openness to being Wolff employs a radical hermeneutical method in exploring his own humanity taking key experiences dreams and ideas and continually revisiting them from different perspectives throughout the text in order to describe the self construction of his life Including personal letters to Wolff from Hannah Arendt and Hermann Bloch the book portrays a fertile mind s reckoning with pre phenomenal being in a way that dances between the realms of intellectual consideration and the surrender of will to the intoxication of lived experience The Genealogical Imagination Michael Jackson, 2021-04-05 In The Genealogical Imagination Michael Jackson juxtaposes ethnographic and imaginative writing to explore intergenerational trauma and temporality Drawing on over fifty years of fieldwork Jackson recounts the 150 year history of a Sierra Leone family through its periods of prosperity and powerlessness war and peace jihad and migration Jackson also offers a fictionalized narrative loosely based on his family history and fieldwork in northeastern Australia that traces how the trauma of wartime in one generation can reverberate into the next In both stories Jackson reflects on different modes of being in time demonstrating how genealogical time flows in stops and starts linear at times discontinuous at others as current generations reckon with their relationships to their ancestors Genealogy Jackson demonstrates becomes a powerful model for understanding our experience of being in the world as nobody can escape kinship and the pull of the past Unconventional and evocative The Genealogical Imagination offers a nuanced account of how lives are lived while it pushes the bounds of the forms that scholarship can take Famous Wisconsin Authors James P. Roberts, 2002-04 From Aldo Leopold to Zona Gale here are the profiles of 35 Famous Wisconsin Authors Meet Native American authors as well as poets novelists and contemporary authors Topographies of African Spirituality Afe Adogame, Ebenezer Obadare, Wale Adebani, 2025-01-31 This book explores African spirituality inside and outside of religion investigating African traditions and perceptions in the study of spirituality across Africa and the African diaspora It provides an interdisciplinary reflection on key issues in the field and sheds light on everyday experiences In particular the volume celebrates the work and mentorship of Professor Jacob K Olupona a leading figure in the study of African spiritualities religions in Africa and methodological approaches to the study of religion With chapters by an impressive range of scholars from institutions across Africa Europe and North America this book makes a valuable empirical and theoretical contribution to the development of African religious studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

The Sea and Medieval English Literature Sebastian I. Sobecki, 2008 A fresh and invigorating survey of the sea as it appears in medieval English literature from romance to chronicle hagiography to autobiography As the first cultural history of the sea in medieval English literature this book traces premodern myths of insularity from their Old English beginnings to Shakespeare's Tempest Beginning with a discussion of biblical classical and pre-Conquest treatments of the sea it investigates how such works as the Anglo-Norman Voyage of St Brendan the Tristan romances the chronicles of Matthew Paris King Horn Patience The Book of Margery Kempe and The Libelle of Englyshe Polycye shape insular ideologies of Englishness Whether it is Britain's privileged place in the geography of salvation or the political fiction of the idyllic island fortress medieval English writers' myths of the sea betray their anxieties about their own insular identity their texts call on maritime motifs to define England geographically and culturally against the presence of the sea New insights from a range of fields including jurisprudence theology the history of cartography and anthropology are used to provide fresh readings of a wide range of both insular and continental writings
