The Institution Of Literature:

The Institution of Literature Jeffrey J. Williams, 2001-12-13 In response to the classic question What is literature we usually look to the novels poems and plays on our shelves The Institution of Literature turns this question around looking instead at the institutions that house literary study It examines how our institutional practices protocols and structures mediate and produce what we call literature It shines light on usually hidden but formative dimensions of literary study from the institutional economy governing theory to the star system of professional reputation from the corporatization of cultural studies to the reconfiguration of our roles as resource managers rather than literary scholars and from the position of graduate students to the hierarchical structure of our professional organizations Gathering contributions from critics such as Michael B rub Terry Caesar Lennard Davis Vincent B Leitch Devoney Looser David R Shumway James J Sosnoski and Evan Watkins The Institution of Literature forges an original and timely line of research both criticizing current professional forms of literary study and proposing possibilities for change

The Institution of Literature Jeffrey J. Williams, Professor of English and of Literary and Cultural Studies Jeffrey J Williams, 2002-01-01 Leading voices in literary and cultural studies examine the study of literature at the college level including the fate of theory the rise of cultural studies the academic star system and the difficult job market

The Institution of English Literature Barbara Schaff, Johannes Schlegel, Carola Surkamp, 2016-11-07 The contributions investigate the ways in which numerous institutions of English literature shape the literary field While they cover an extensive historical field ranging from the Early Modern period to the 18th century to the contemporary they focus not only on literary texts but also on extra literary ones including literary prizes literary histories and anthologies and highlight the various ways in which these negotiate the processes that constitute the literary field All contributions assert that there is no such thing as literature outside of institutions Great emphasis is therefore put on different acts of mediation

Institutions of Literature, 1700-1900 Jon Mee, Matthew Sangster, 2022-07-21 This lively collection makes a compelling case for the importance of institutions in the production reception and meaning of literature

The Institution of Literature , 1998

The Institutions of Art Peter B_rger, Christa B_rger, 1992-01-01 Art has been an umbrella term for poetry music dance sculpture painting and architecture since the end of the eighteenth century when the bourgeoisie were establishing their hegemony over culture and politics in Germany labor was becoming more clearly divided and religion was losing its unifying force Art became a broad and separate entity as the expectations and experience of it changed The Institutions of Art concentrates on German and French literature in illustrating the formation of aesthetic autonomy and the divergence between high and popular culture Peter B_rger builds on his earlier Theory of the Avant Garde 1984 pushing further into key theoretical questions about art and society Christa B_rger extends the critique to the history of the novel focusing on Goethe and Kleist Looking backward to feudalism and forward to our century the authors show how the function of art has changed along with the criteria for its production and evaluation

Institutions of World Literature

Stefan Helgesson, Pieter Vermeulen, 2015-06-19 This volume engages critically with the recent and ongoing consolidation of world literature as a paradigm of study On the basis of an extended active and ultimately more literary sense of what it means to institute world literature it views processes of institutionalization not as limitations but as challenges to understand how literature may simultaneously function as an enabling and exclusionary world of its own It starts from the observation that literature is never simply a given but is always performatively and materially instituted by translators publishers academics and academics critics and readers as well as authors themselves This volume therefore substantiates refines as well as interrogates current approaches to world literature such as those developed by David Damrosch Pascale Casanova and Emily Apter Sections focus on the poetics of writers themselves market dynamics postcolonial negotiations of discrete archives of literature and translation engaging a range of related disciplines The chapters contribute to a fresh understanding of how singular literary works become inserted in transnational systems and conversely how transnational and institutional dimensions of literature are inflected in literary works Focusing its methodological and theoretical inquiries on a broad archive of texts spanning the triangle Europe Latin America Africa the volume unsettles North America as the self evident vantage of recent world literature debates Because of the volume s focus on dialogues between world literature and fields such as postcolonial studies translation studies book history and transnational studies it will be of interest to scholars and students in a range of areas

The Alter Ego Perspectives of Literary Historiography Min Wang, 2013-07-05 This book mainly discusses about the alter ego perspectives in literary historiography This comparative analysis of the major Chinese literary histories in China and in the West brings to light the alter ego perspectives of Stephen Owen in literary historiography The most interesting part of the book will be the interpretation of new notions and perspectives proposed by Stephen Owen especially in the newly published The Cambridge History of Chinese Literature 2010 This book gives a detailed overview about the different stages of writing Chinese literary history and the different modes of literary historiography in China and in the West Two case studies of Chinese poems are made on the notion of discursive communities and the Cultural Tang Readers will have a better understanding about the paradigm of literary historiography and the interrelationships between the different modes of literary historiography and the intellectual history

Building a National Literature Peter Uwe Hohendahl, 2016-11-01 Building a National Literature boldly takes issue with traditional literary criticism for its failure to explain how literature as a body is created and shaped by institutional forces Peter Uwe Hohendahl approaches literary history by focusing on the material and ideological structures that determine the canonical status of writers and works He examines important elements in the making of a national literature including the political and literary public sphere the theory and practice of literary criticism and the emergence of academic criticism as literary history Hohendahl considers such key aspects of the process in Germany as the rise of liberalism and nationalism the delineation of the borders of German literature the idea of its history the understanding of its cultural function and the notion of a canon of
