

An aerial, high-angle view of a city at night. A large, multi-story building is illuminated from within, with a bright red light emanating from its upper floors. The surrounding city is dark, with some lights visible in the distance. The title text is overlaid on the image.

Terror On The 40th Floor:

Television Fright Films of the 1970s David Deal, 2015-01-27 If the made for television movie has long been regarded as a poor stepchild of the film industry then telefilm horror has been the most uncelebrated offspring of all. Considered unworthy of critical attention, scary movies made for television have received little notice over the years. Yet millions of fans grew up watching them, especially during the 1970s, and remember them fondly. This exhaustive survey addresses the lack of critical attention by evaluating such films on their own merits. Covering nearly 150 made for TV fright movies from the 1970s, the book includes credits, a plot synopsis, and critical commentary for each. From the well remembered Don't Be Afraid of the Dark to the better forgotten Look What's Happened to Rosemary's Baby, it's a trustworthy and entertaining guide to the golden age of the televised horror movie.

The Golden Age of Disaster Cinema Nik Havert, 2019-05-10 From the 1950s through the 1970s, disaster movies were a wildly popular genre. Audiences thrilled at the spectacle of these films, many of which were considered glamorous for their time. Derided by critics, they became box office hits and cult classics, inspiring filmmakers around the globe. Some of them launched the careers of producers, directors, and actors who would go on to create some of Hollywood's biggest blockbusters. With more than 40 interviews with actors, actresses, producers, stuntmen, special effects artists, and others, this book covers the Golden Age of sinking ships, burning buildings, massive earthquakes, viral pandemics, and outbreaks of animal madness.

New York Magazine, 1984-04-02 New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors Jerry Roberts, 2009-06-05 From live productions of the 1950s like Requiem for a Heavyweight to big budget mini series like Band of Brothers, long form television programs have been helmed by some of the most creative and accomplished names in directing. Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors brings attention to the directors of these productions, citing every director of stand-alone long form television programs made for TV, movies, movie-length pilots, mini series, and feature-length anthology programs, as well as drama, comedy, and musical specials of more than 60 minutes. Each of the nearly 2,000 entries provides a brief career sketch of the director, his or her notable works, awards, and a filmography. Many entries also provide brief discussions of key shows, movies, and other productions. Appendixes include Emmy Awards, DGA Awards, and other accolades, as well as a list of anthology programs. A much-needed reference that celebrates these often-neglected artists, Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in the history of the medium.

Not So Good a Gay Man Frank M. Robinson, 2024-06-04 Not So Good a Gay Man is the compelling memoir of author, screenwriter, and activist Frank M. Robinson. Frank M. Robinson (1926-2014) accomplished a great deal in his long life working in magazine publishing including a stint for Playboy and writing science fiction such as The Power The Dark Beyond the Stars and thrillers such as The Glass Inferno filmed as The Towering Inferno Robinson also passionately engaged in politics fighting for gay rights and most famously writing speeches for his good friend Harvey Milk in San Francisco This deeply personal autobiography addressed to a friend in the gay community explains the life of one gay man over eight decades in America By turns witty charming and poignant this memoir grants insights into Robinson's work not just as a journalist and writer but as a gay man navigating the often perilous social landscape of 20th century life in the United States The bedrock sincerity and painful honesty with which he describes this life makes Not So Good a Gay Man compelling reading At the Publisher's request this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software DRM applied New York Magazine, 1984-05-07 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Kim Newman's Video Dungeon Kim Newman, 2018-05-01 Ripped from the pages of Empire magazine the first collection of film critic film historian and novelist Kim Newman's reviews of the best and worst B movies Some of the cheapest trashiest goriest and occasionally unexpectedly good films from the past 25 years are here torn apart and stitched back together again in Kim's unique style Everything you want to know about DTV hell is here Enter if you dare A Silent Terror Lynette Eason, 2019-09-16 A deaf woman navigates a maze of danger and intrigue in the first High Stakes thriller from the USA Today bestselling author of A Silent Fury When Marianna Santino's roommate is killed Detective Ethan O'Hara can't fathom the motive Then he realizes the deaf teacher was the intended target Marianna must have something the murderer desperately wants But what Digging for the truth the guarded cop tries to learn everything he can about Marianna Her world Her family Her beauty faith and fierce independence In spite of himself Ethan finds that he can't keep his feelings at bay Soon he's willing to risk everything including his heart to lay the silent terror stalking Marianna to rest Are You In The House Alone? Amanda Reyes, 2017-04-05 Beginning in the 1960s through its heyday in the 1970s and beyond the telefilm remains an important cultural artefact masquerading as disposable entertainment Made specifically for the small screen within the tight constraints of broadcasting standards what these humble movies lacked in budget and star appeal they made up for in other ways Often they served as an introduction to genre films particularly horror mirroring their theatrical counterparts with a focus on sinister cults women in prison haunted houses and even animals in revolt They were also a place to address serious contemporary issues drugs prostitution sexual violence and justice albeit in a cosy domestic environment Production of telefilms continues to this day but their significance within the history of mass media remains under discussed Are You in the House Alone seeks to address this imbalance in a series of reviews and essays by fans and critics alike It looks at many of the films the networks and names behind them and also specific genres everything from Stephen King adaptations to superheroes to true life dramas So kickback and crack open the TV guide once more for the event that is the Movie of the Week

American Disaster Movies of the 1970s Scott Freer, 2023-10-19 American Disaster Movies of the 1970s is the first scholarly book dedicated to the disaster cycle that dominated American cinema and television in the 1970s Through examining films such as Airport 1970 The Poseidon Adventure 1972 Two Minute Warning 1976 and The Swarm 1978 alongside their historical contexts and American contemporaneous trends the disaster cycle is treated as a time bound phenomenon This book further contextualises the cycle by drawing on the longer cultural history of modernist reactions to modern anxieties including the widespread dependence on technology and corporate power Each chapter considers cinematic precursors such as the ark movie and contemporaneous trends such as New Hollywood vigilante and blaxploitation films as well as the immediate American context the end of the civil rights and countercultural era the Watergate crisis and the defeat in Vietnam As Scott Freer argues the disaster movie is a modern demotic form of tragedy that satisfies a taste for the macabre It is also an aesthetic means for processing painful truths and many of the dramatized themes anticipate present day monstrosities of modernity
