The Texas Landscape Project David A. Todd,Jonathan Ogren,2016-06-14 The Texas Landscape Project explores conservation and ecology in Texas by presenting a highly visual and deeply researched view of the widespread changes that have affected the state as its population and economy have boomed and as Texans have worked ever harder to safeguard its bountiful but limited natural resources Covering the entire state from Pineywoods bottomlands and Panhandle playas to Hill Country springs and Big Bend canyons the project examines a host of familiar and not so familiar environmental issues A companion volume to The Texas Legacy Project this book tracks specific environmental changes that have occurred in Texas using more than 300 color maps expertly crafted by cartographer Jonathan Ogren and over 100 photographs that coalesce to fashion a broad portrait of the modern Texas landscape The rich data compiled by author David Todd are presented in clearly written yet marvelously detailed text that gives historical context and contemporary statistics for environmental trends connected to the land water air energy and built world of the second largest and second most populated state in the nation An engaging read for any environmentalist or conscientious citizen The Texas Landscape Project provides a true sense of the grand scope of the Lone Star State and the high stakes of protecting it To learn more about The Meadows Center for Water and the Environment sponsors of this book s series please click here

Applied Zooarchaeology Lisa Nagaoka,Torben C. Rick,Steven J. Wolverton,2016-12-31 During the last two decades zooarchaeologists have increasingly focused aspects of their work on conservation biology Zooarchaeological data represent an empirical record of past human animal interactions which provides conservation with a deep temporal perspective There are many challenges that face the archaeologist as conservation biologist however that have little to do with deep time faunal remains and zooarchaeological method and theory In this book we use a series of case studies with which each of the authors has relevant personal experience to explore the types of interdisciplinary challenges that zooarchaeologists face when crossing into the world of environmental management and animal conservation Never has there been a greater need for multi vocal perspectives in conservation biology This book shows zooarchaeologists how to use zooarchaeological perspectives to help meet those needs while crossing traditional academic disciplinary boundaries
