The Idea Of God In The Light Of Recent Philosophy:

The Idea of God in the Light of Recent Philosophy Andrew Seth Pringle-Pattison, 1920 The idea of God in the light of recent philosophy : The Gifford Lectures, delivered in the Univ. of Aberdeen in the years 1912 and 1913 Andrew Seth Pringle-Pattison, 1971 The Idea of God in the Light of Recent Philosophy A. Seth Pringle-Pattison, 1967 The Idea of God A. Seth Pringle-Pattison, 2018-09-04

The author disclaims any attempt at a history of the idea of God. Altho his method is critical and to some degree historical his aim is fundamentally constructive construction through criticism. His approach to the theistic position is through the criterion of value in the light of which human life and existence as a whole are judged and ultimate reality seen. Over against mechanism and naturalism he sets the newer biology and ethical idealism. He defends the fundamental thesis that man is organic to nature and nature organic to man. The positivism of Comte the monadology of Leibnitz the subjective idealism of Berkeley and the pantheism of Spinoza are subjected to critical inquiry. The relation of the two most influential thinkers Hume and Kant to the theistic position is pointed out with great clearness. The argument especially in the second series has especial reference to the idealistic positions of F H Bradley in Appearance and Reality and Bosanquet's well known Gifford Lectures on Individuality and Value and Value and Destiny. Here he criticizes both the idea of value and the individual as Absolute and finite. He enters the more definitely theological field in his presentation of the meaning of creation the ontological and cosmological arguments and teleology as a cosmic principle. The volume closes with chapters on time and eternity with particular attention to Bergson's conception of time and a growing universe and on pluralism and a limited God as advocated by Rashdall, McTaggart and William James. Very many of the questions which have come up in present day speculative and theological thought receive here thoroughgoing consideration and are treated with candor, lucidity and conviction. We are indeed far from an intelligible and commonly accepted idea of God and perhaps we shall never be able to reduce God to a definition or to agree on many disputed points of view but a book like this will aid in disclosing inherent difficulties of the subject and in liberating thoughtful minds from notions which are the product of unreflecting habits or a jumble of inconsistent opinions. Two or three quotations may be fitly introduced to show the tenor of this exceedingly suggestive volume. If we are to reach any credible theory of the relations of God and man the traditional idea of God must be profoundly modified. For a metaphysics which has emancipated itself from physical categories the ultimate conception of God is not that of a preexistent Creator but as it is for religion that of the eternal Redeemer of the world. This perpetual process is the very life of God in which besides the effort and the pain he tastes we must believe the joy of victory won. Homiletic Review Volume 75 Kantian Reason and Hegelian Spirit Gary Dorrien, 2015-03-16 Winner 2012 The American Publishers Award for Professional and Scholarly Excellence in Theology and Religious Studies PROSE Award. In this thought provoking new work the world renowned theologian Gary Dorrien reveals how Kantian and post Kantian idealism were instrumental in the foundation and development of modern Christian theology. Presents a radical rethinking of the roots of modern theology Reveals how Kantian and post Kantian idealism were instrumental in the foundation and development of modern Christian theology Shows how it took Kant s writings on ethics and religion to launch a fully modern departure in religious thought Dissects Kant s three critiques of reason and his moral conception of religion Analyzes alternative arguments offered by Schleiermacher Schelling Hegel and others moving historically and chronologically through key figures in European philosophy and theology Presents notoriously difficult and intellectual arguments in a lucid and accessible manner

The Humanity of Christ and the Healing of the Dysfunction of the Human Spirit Donald L. Alexander,2015-08-13 The book represents a personal quest in what Anselm referred to as faith seeking understanding The primary focus centers on proposing an interpretation of the nature and function of the human spirit and its relationship to the divine spirit and the living of a godly Christian life Thus the book has a dual concern namely an academic one and a spiritual one The undergirding premise is that apart of the human spirit the divine spirit is personally unknowable This premise contains the following supporting concepts First the core of human personhood resides in the human spirit and constitutes the unique capacity for personal self relatedness Second as the result of humanity s idolatrous displacement of God a radical reversal occurred with the human spirit When restored to its original relationship with the divine spirit the human spirit as James Loder writes is called out of its futility and perversity into the light and truth of the divine spirit Bulletin ... ,1918

God's Wounds Jeff B Pool,2011-07-28 God s Wounds Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering Volume II Evil and Divine Suffering is the second of a three volume study of Christian testimonies to divine suffering The larger study focuses its inquiry on the testimonies to divine suffering themselves seeking to allow the voices that attest to divine suffering to speak freely The goal is then to discover and elucidate the internal logic or rationality of this family of testimonies rather than defending these attestations against the dominant claims of classical Christian theism that have historically sought to eliminate such language altogether from Christian discourse about the nature and life of God This second volume proceeds on the basis of the presuppositions of the symbol those implicit attestations that permit the possibility of divine suffering that which constitutes divine vulnerability with respect to creation The author investigates two divine wounds or modes of divine suffering to which the larger family of testimonies normally attest 1 divine grief or suffering due to human sin or betrayal by the beloved human and 2 divine self sacrifice or suffering for the beloved human in its bondage to sin or misery so as to establish the possibility of redemption and reconciliation
