The Casablanca Man Dr James C Robertson, James Robertson, 2013-09-13 Michael Curtiz 1888 1962 was without doubt one of the most important directors in film history yet he has never been granted his deserved recognition and no full scale work on him has previously been published The Casablanca Man surveys Curtiz unequalled mastery over a variety of genres which included biography comedy horror melodrama musicals swashbucklers and westerns and looks at his relationship with the Hollywood studio moguls on the basis of unprecedented archive research at Warner Brothers Concentrating on Curtiz best known films Casablanca Angels With Dirty Faces Mildred Pearce and Captain Blood among them Robertson explores Curtiz practical creative struggles and his friendships and rivalries with other film celebrities including Errol Flynn Bette Davis and James Cagney and his discovery of future stars Casablanca Man is the first comprehensive critical exploration of Curtiz entire career and linking his European work and his subsequent American work into a coherent whole Robertson firmly re-establishes Curtiz true standing in the history of cinema

Re-Viewing British Cinema, 1900-1992 Wheeler W. Dixon, 1994-07-01 Re-Viewing British Cinema 1900 1992 is a collection of essays on British cinema history and practice It offers both the casual reader and the film scholar a different view of British filmmaking during the past century Arranged in chronological order the book explores those areas of British cinema that have not been fully examined in other works and also offers fresh interpretations of a number of classic films From the work of Frederic Villiers the pioneering British newsreel cameraman who at the turn of the century brought home images of battlefield carnage to essays on the British B film and the long forgotten Independent Frame method of film production to new readings of classics such as The Red Shoes Passport to Pimlico and Peeping Tom the authors offer a look behind the scenes of the British film industry and engage the reader in some of the most compelling interpretational and historical issues of recent film history and critical theory In addition the volume contains a number of interviews with such key directors as Stephen Frears Terence Davies Wendy Toye and Lindsay Anderson and also pays particular attention to the work of early twentieth century British feminist filmmakers whose films have often been ignored by conventional film theory and history It also offers new material on the British film noir the English horror film and the pioneering gay director Brian Desmond Hurst Taken as a whole this book presents an entirely new series of viewpoints on British film practice theory and reception and affords a fresh and vibrant view of the British film medium

The Cinematic Challenge: Filming Colonial America John P. Harty, Jr., 2016 Why did cinema largely ignore the colonial era and the Revolutionary War The Cinematic Challenge asks this question and studies four films from the 1930s and 1940s to consider other queries such as How did

Darryl F Zanuck make a film about the American Revolution Drums Along The Mohawk without indicating that the British were the enemy Why was Northwest Passage never completed How did Cecil B DeMille begin production on a film Unconquered based on a book that did not yet exist In addition we ll learn how accurate the depictions of colonial life were in each film and whether the political and economic climate affected the finished products Volume one of The Cinematic Challenge also includes information about the general state of the film industry during this period technological advancements and rival theories about historical filmmaking making it the most in depth resource available today on colonial movies
