The Indonesian Rural Economy Mobility Work And Enterprise:

The Indonesian Rural Economy Thomas R Leinbach, 2003-10-30 This book is the most up to date and authoritative work on Indonesias rural non farm development characteristics and potential The essays by experts and well known specialists in the field emphasize the changing importance of off farm income employment contributions of small enterprises the role of gender and mobility in entrepreneurial behaviour and the policy implications for rural non farm enterprises A unique feature is the use of case studies to provide insights and context for activities The book is both a summary of current knowledge and a call for new inquiries on this critical theme

The Geography of Southeast Asia Thomas A. Rumney, 2010 This book discusses the varied geographical aspects of Southeast Asia an area that has long been of interest to geographers and other academics This collection identifies organizes and presents various scholarly publications on subjects ranging from cultural social geography economic geography historical geography physical geography political geography and urban geography

Rural Investment Climate in Indonesia Neil McCulloch, 2009 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the constraints facing the development of rural non farm enterprises in Indonesia Recent years have seen a substantial effort by the Indonesian government to improve the investment climate To date much of this effort has focused on the constraints faced by businesses at the national level However if Indonesia is to be successful in creating jobs and reducing poverty across the archipelago this will require improving the investment climate for the 15 7 million micro and small enterprises that employ more than half of all the non farm workers in the country This book brings together leading Indonesian and international academics to consider seven key constraints that RNFES face labour regulations and practices infrastructure competition and marketing knowledge transfer and technology access to credit and financial services local taxation and user charges and insecurity In each case the authors draw on the Indonesian Rural Investment Climate Survey a unique dataset of more than 2 500 RNFES to identify the size and nature of the constraints the way in which they impact upon enterprise growth and the implications for policy In addition a key chapter estimates the strength of the linkage between agriculture and non agricultural activities in rural areas showing that agricultural revitalization is an essential complement to the development of the non farm economy Understanding the rural investment climate in both slow and fast growing economies has taken on new urgency in the wake of the world food crisis The rural non farm economy often provides half or more of the income of farm families and is especially important for food deficit rural households hard hit by rising food prices The Indonesian Rural Investment Climate Assessment is the gold standard for how to achieve this understanding It is a delight to see it published and available to a wide audience C Peter Timmer Visiting Professor Program on Food Security and Environment Stanford University Non Resident Fellow Center for Global Development

Transforming the Rural Nonfarm Economy Steven Haggblade, Peter B. R. Hazell, Thomas Reardon, 2007-11-16 Contrary to conventional wisdom that equates rural economies with agriculture rural residents in developing countries often rely heavily on activities other than farming for their income Indeed nonfarm work accounts for between one third and one half of rural incomes in the developing world In recent years accelerating globalization increasing competition from large businesses expanding urban markets for rural goods and services and greater availability of information and communication technology have combined to expose rural nonfarm businesses to new opportunities as well as new risks By examining these rapid changes in the rural nonfarm economy international experts explore how the rural nonfarm economy can contribute to overall economic growth in developing countries and how the poor can participate in this rapidly evolving segment of the economy The authors review an array of recent studies of the rural nonfarm economy in order to summarize existing empirical evidence explore policy implications and identify future research priorities They examine the varied scale structure and composition of the rural nonfarm economy as well as its relationship with agricultural and urban enterprises And they address key questions about the role of public intervention in the rural nonfarm economy and how the rural poor can participate in and navigate the rapid transition underway in rural areas The contributors offer new insights to specialists in rural development and to others interested in overall economic development

Development of Small & Medium Enterprises in Asean Countries Tulus Tambunan, In developing countries small and medium enterprises SMEs have a crucial role to play because of their potential contributions to employment generation improvement of income distribution poverty reduction export growth and development of rural economy It is in this context that the present book makes a comprehensive in ASEAN countries Brunei Darussalam Indonesia Malaysia Philippines Singapore Thailand Vietnam Myanmar of SMEs is studied with special focus on growth in out put and number of units export growth subcontracting and supporting industries and development of clusters The major constraints in the development of SMEs have also been dealt with

Cross-border Mobility Wendy Mee,2025-10-01 Cross border Mobility Women Work and Malay Identity in Indonesia offers a fresh perspective on the association between mobility and the ethnocultural category Malay In so doing it raises new research questions that are relevant to the study of Indonesian women s socioeconomic mobility more generally Based on fieldwork in Sambas a region of Indonesia bordering Malaysia this study documents the ethnocultural consequences of the highly mobile working lives of Sambas Malay women Emphasising the significance of territorial borders in women s working lives this study highlights how women s border location not only facilitates cross border pathways of international labour migration and trade but also generates feelings of peripherality that inform women s imaginative construction of other nonterritorial borders that need to be crossed Shaped by social class gender and the economic and cultural possibilities of political decentralization the study identifies three borderscapes that orient women s work related mobility and create diverse outcomes for the ethnocultural category Sambas Malay This book offers a fresh perspective on the association between mobility and the ethnocultural category Malay This study documents the broader cultural consequences of Indonesian Malay women s work related mobility on the practice and understanding of what it means to be Malay In so doing the book Provides a rare investigation into the ethnocultural effects of Indonesian women's mobility i.e. in terms of the way women's mobility reconfigures ethnic identifications. Critically addresses the historically informed assumption that Malay men through their mobility are the carriers of Malayness, Islamic reform and modernity. Deepens our appreciation of the significance of gendered forms of mobility across territorial and non-territorial borders to the construction of identity. Provides a borderlands perspective on women's independent labour migration in a part of West Kalimantan where studies of women's labour migration remain scarce.

SMEs in Asian Developing Countries Tulus Tahi Hamonangan Tambunan, 2009-08-28 Analyzing the development of small and medium enterprises, SMEs in Asian developing countries. The book is based on a survey of key literature and data on SMEs with the focus on recent development, export performance, main constraints, competitiveness, innovation and technology transfer and female entrepreneurs.

Asian Migrations Tony Fielding, 2015-07-16 This textbook describes and explains the complex reality of contemporary internal and international migrations in East Asia. Taking an interdisciplinary approach, Tony Fielding combines theoretical debate and detailed empirical analysis to provide students with an understanding of the causes and consequences of the many types of contemporary migration flows in the region. Key features of Asian Migrations: Comprehensive coverage of all forms of migration including labour migration, student migration, marriage migration, displacement and human trafficking. Text boxes containing key concepts and theories. More than 30 maps and diagrams. Equal attention devoted to broad structures (e.g. political economy) and individual agency (e.g. migration behaviours). Emphasis on the conceptual and empirical connections between internal and international migrations. Exploration of the policy implications of the trends and processes discussed. Written by an experienced scholar and teacher of migration studies. This is an essential text for courses on East Asian migrations and mobility and important reading for courses on international migration and Asian societies more generally.

People on the Move Ryoji Soda, 2007 Based on participant observation and interviews in a village in Sarawak, Ryoji Soda examines outward migration from the village, the migrants' living strategies in urban areas, their frequent moves between rural and urban areas and kinship relations between rural and urban residents. Focusing on the Iban of Sarawak, one of the major ethnic groups, the study suggests that their movement should be comprehended as a part of their endeavors to expand their living space. With research that spans a decade, People on the Move presents a fresh ethnographic perspective on human mobility, rural-urban interactions, development policy and family relations.

How the World Hunger Problem Was not Solved Christian Gerlach, 2024-02-14 The world food crisis 1972-1975 gave rise to new development concepts. To eradicate world hunger, small peasants were supposed to use modern inputs like high-yielding seeds, fertilizer, pesticides and irrigation. This would turn subsistence producers into business owners, transform rural areas, invigorate national economies and the crisis-stricken world economy and thus stabilize capitalism. Together with an in-depth account of the world food crisis, this book analyses how this global scheme largely failed. It shows its diverse initiators, their reasoning and motives, its political breakthrough, the degrees to which it was implemented globally.

and nationally in the following decades and its socioeconomic effects in rural areas Despite internationally coordinated policies and coercive means the scheme failed on all levels situation analysis design policies incapable institutions including big business implementation and peasants responses Selective realization in certain regions and for certain crops and the appropriation of funds by local elites often aggravated inequality and hunger Case studies are about Bangladesh Indonesia Tanzania and Mali The book shows limits to global social engineering imperialism and state control It is aimed at students scholars activists and non specialists interested in development and the world food problem The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
