Ebbin, Alf H. Hoel, Are Sydné, 2005-06-07 This is the first systematic assessment of the international 200 mile exclusive economic zone To date 145 states have ratified the Law of the Sea Convention and most have established EEZs This volume focuses on the specific nature of the EEZ and the construction and evolution of institutions stemming from its introduction specifically examining developments at local national and international levels Economics for Collaborative Environmental Management Graham Marshall, 2012-05-23 Marshall has re grafted economics to the philosophical roots of collaborative environmental management given stakeholders a pragmatic economics for bottom up conflict resolution and eliminated the need for top down economic experts Beautifully reasoned and wonderfully practical RICHARD B NORGAARD ENERGY AND RESOURCES PROGRAM UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA BERKELEY US If the potential of collaborative management is ever realized it will owe a debt to this book It provides a foundational economic theory of learning coming from complex adaptive systems thinking tested with field experience ALLAN SCHMID UNIVERSITY DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY US Marshall argues that mainstream economics captive as it is of the prisoner s dilemma and the dangers of free riding is in a blind alley when it comes to contributing to constructive debate on governance of the commons This is a significant book which draws on the new institutional economics to indicate a productive way in which economists could contribute to thinking on common property natural resource management WARREN MUSGRAVE EMERITUS PROFESSOR OF AGRICULTURAL AND RESOURCE ECONOMICS UNIVERSITY OF NEW ENGLAND AUSTRALIA Economic thought and emerging collaborative environmental governance are important areas of thought and application but are mostly found at great distance from each other and very often in conflict Marshall not only clearly demonstrates why this is so he goes on to detail an alternative pathway that can strengthen both of these fields in both their theory and practice This is a most impressive feat and this is a book thoroughly deserving a very wide readership STEPHEN DOVERS SENIOR FELLOW AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL UNIVERSITY A valuable contribution to the burgeoning literature on voluntary collective action that demonstrates how processes can be designed to produce trust amongst stakeholders Marshall anchors theory in the common property resource governance literature that has challenged orthodox economics for the last 25 years and offers the prospect of productive relationships between users bureaucrats and funders MARK SPROULE JONES V K COPPS PROFESSOR MCMASTER UNIVERSITY CANADA Mainstream economics has a tight grip on public discourse yet remains poorly equipped to comprehend the collaborative vision for managing environmental and resource commons This ground breaking book diagnoses the weaknesses of mainstream economics in analysing collaborative and other decentralized approaches to environmental management and presents a unique operational approach to how collaborative environmental governance might be brought to fruition in a variety of contexts whether in industrialized or developing countries The result is a powerful useful and badly needed approach to economics for collaborative environmental management of the commons

Rethinking Authority in Global Climate Governance Thomas Hickmann,2015-10-16 In the past few years numerous authors have highlighted the emergence of transnational climate initiatives such as city networks private certification schemes and business self regulation in the policy domain of climate change While these transnational governance arrangements can surely contribute to solving the problem of climate change their development by different types of sub and non state actors does not imply a weakening of the intergovernmental level On the contrary many transnational climate initiatives use the international climate regime as a point of reference and have adopted various rules and procedures from international agreements Rethinking Authority in Global Climate Governance puts forward this argument and expands upon it using case studies which suggest that the effective operation of transnational climate initiatives strongly relies on the existence of an international regulatory framework created by nation states Thus this book emphasizes the centrality of the intergovernmental process clustered around the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change UNFCCC and underscores that multilateral treaty making continues to be more important than many scholars and policy makers suppose This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of global environmental politics climate change and sustainable development
