The Improvement of Productivity Hofstra University. School of Business,1980 The Improvement of Productivity
John E. Ullmann,1980-04-01 Personnel Literature ,1984 Technology and Transformation in the American Electric Utility Industry Richard F. Hirsh,2003-11-20 This book illuminates the role of technological stagnation in the decline of the American electric utility industry in the late 1960s and 1970s Unlike other interpreters of the industry s woes Professor Hirsh argues that a long and successful history of managing a conventional technology set the stage for the industry s deterioration After improving steadily for decades the technology that brought unequalled productivity growth to the industry appeared to stall in the late 1960s making it impossible to mitigate the economic and regulatory assaults of the 1970s Unfortunately most managers did not recognize or did not want to believe the severity of the technological problems they faced and they chose to focus instead on issues usually financial or public relations that appeared more manageable Partly as a result of this lack of attention to technological issues the industry found itself in the 1980s challenged by the prospects of deregulation and restructuring

The Global Economics of Forestry William F. Hyde,2012-05-23 This book traces the economic and biological pattern of forest development from initial settlement and harvest activity at the natural forest frontier to modern industrial forest plantations It builds from diagrams describing three discrete stages of forest development and then discusses the management and policy implications associated with each supporting its observations with examples and data from six continents and from both developed and developing countries It shows that characteristic distinctions between the three stages make forestry unusual in natural resource management and that effective policy requires different even contrasting decisions at each stage William F Hyde s comprehensive discussion covers a wide range of issues including the impacts of both specific forest policies and broader macroeconomic policies the unique requirements of current issues such as global warming biodiversity and tourism and the complexities of the different forest products industries Concluding chapters review the roles of the newer institutional landowners of smaller private and farm landowners and of public agencies This highly original volume reaches far beyond forest economics it explains what forestry can do for regional development and environmental conservation and what policies designed for other sectors and the macro economy can do for forestry
