cooperation and security The 29 reports presented in this book one for each EU member state as well as one on the EU as a whole examine how steep the learning curve has been and accordingly how successful these bodies have been at forming new linkages among the various actors involved in external crisis and conflict management as well as within and between their institutions and organisations While the EU clearly still has a long way to go before it can live up to its rhetoric and become a distinct and effective actor on the foreign policy stage small and incremental steps in reorganising institutional practise may help in narrowing the gap between words and deeds This volume provides examples of how the EU and its member states have found new organisational structures and procedures specifically at the headquarters level to better organise the necessary combination and coordination of the many tools available for crisis and conflict management These ways are then juxtaposed in a big picture chapter which also identifies best practices for successful WGA implementation
