

The book cover features a photograph of a large, dark, rounded rock formation in a desert landscape. A person in a white shirt and blue jeans stands to the right of the rock for scale. In the background, there are mountains and a valley. The title 'SO YOU WANNA SEE COWBOY STUFF?' is printed in large, bold, serif font in the upper right. Below it, the subtitle 'The Western Movie/TV Tour Guide' is in a smaller serif font. The author's name 'by Boyd Magers' is below the subtitle. At the bottom, an oval contains the text 'Special Movie Locations Contributions by Tinsley Varbrough'.

Making the San Fernando Valley Laura R. Barraclough, 2011 In the first book length scholarly study of the San Fernando Valley home to one third of the population of Los Angeles Laura R Barraclough combines ambitious historical sweep with an on theground investigation of contemporary life in this iconic western suburb She is particularly intrigued by the Valley s many rural elements such as dirt roads tack and feed stores horse keeping districts citrus groves and movie ranches Far from natural or undeveloped spaces these rural characteristics are she shows the result of deliberate urbanplanning decisions that have shaped the Valley over the course of more than a hundred years The Valley s entwined history of urban development and rural preservation has real ramifications today for patterns of racial and class inequality and especially for the evolving meaning of whiteness Immersing herself in meetings of homeowners associations equestrian organizations and redistricting committees Barraclough uncovers the racial biases embedded in rhetoric about open space and western heritage The Valley s urban cowboys enjoy exclusive semirural landscapes alongside the opportunities afforded by one of the world s largest cities Despite this enviable position they have at their disposal powerful articulations of both white victimization and with little contradiction color blind politics Public Cowboy No. 1 Holly

So You Wanna See Cowboy Stuff? Boyd Magers, 2003-01-01 Hollywood's West Peter C. Rollins, John E. O'Connor, 2005-11-11 American historians such as Frederick Jackson Turner have argued that the West has been the region that most clearly defines American democracy and the national ethos Throughout the twentieth century the frontier thesis influenced film and television producers who used the West as a backdrop for an array of dramatic explorations of America s history and the evolution of its culture and values The common themes found in Westerns distinguish the genre as a quintessentially American form of dramatic art In Hollywood s West Peter C Rollins John E O Connor and the nation s leading film scholars analyze popular conceptions of the frontier as a fundamental element of American history and culture This volume examines classic Western films and programs that span nearly a century from Cimarron 1931 to Turner Network Television's recent made for TV movies Many of the films discussed here are considered among the greatest cinematic landmarks of all time The essays highlight the ways in which Westerns have both shaped and reflected the dominant social and political concerns of their respective eras While Cimarron challenged audiences with an innovative complex narrative other Westerns of the early sound era such as The Great Meadow 1931 frequently presented nostalgic visions of a simpler frontier era as a temporary diversion from the hardships of the Great Depression Westerns of the 1950s reveal the profound uncertainty cast by the cold war whereas later Westerns display heightened violence and cynicism products of a society marred by wars assassinations riots and political scandals The volume concludes with a comprehensive filmography and an informative bibliography of scholarly writings on the Western genre This collection will prove useful to film scholars historians and both devoted and casual fans of the Western genre Hollywood's West makes a significant contribution to the understanding of both the historic American frontier and its innumerable popular representations
