Social Constructionism And Theology Empirical Studies In Theology:

Social Constructionism and Theology Chris Hermans, Immink, Albert F. de Jong, Lans, 2001-12-01 Scholars of practical theology are increasingly regarding the discipline as one whose scope extends beyond the bounds of an applied theology The concept of action or practice plays a central role in this new understanding At the base of theological reflections by scholars of practical theology are the practices and these are analyzed empirically The aim of the discipline is to transform these practices and develop a hermeneutical action theory or a hermeneutical empirical approach to human actions As a result of its focus on practices practical theology is closely linked to the social sciences Within the social sciences social constructionism is a growing theory Although its forms vary this theory is one to which not only social scientists but also researchers in the psychology and sociology of religion adhere This volume demonstrates the importance of reflection on the emerging concept of social constructionism in the social sciences by scholars of practical theology Normativity And

Empirical Research In Theology Johannes Antonius van der Ven, Michael Scherer-Rath, 2004 In this publication researchers and academics from South Africa Great Britain Switzerland Germany and the Netherlands provide theoretical explanations and examples of empirical research with regard to the fundamental question of the role of theological normativity in empirical research in theological fields Social constructionism and theology [electronic resource]

When One Religion Isn't Enough Duane R. Bidwell, 2018-11-13 An exploration into the lives of people who embrace two or more religious traditions and what this growing community tells us about change in our society Named a best book of 2018 by Library Journal In the United States we often assume religious and spiritual identity are pure static and singular But some people regularly cross religious boundaries These spiritually fluid people celebrate complex religious bonds and in the process they blur social categories evoke prejudice and complicate religious communities Their presence sparks questions How and why do people become spiritually fluid Are they just confused or unable to commit How do we make sense of them When One Religion Isn't Enough explores the lives of spiritually fluid people revealing that while some chose multiple religious belonging many more inherit it For many North Americans the complicated legacies of colonialism are part of their family story and they may consider themselves both Christian and Hindu or Buddhist or Yoruban or one of the many other religions native to colonized lands For some Asian Americans singular religious identity may seem an alien concept as many East Asian nations freely mix Buddhist Confucian Taoist and other traditions Some African American Christians are consciously seeking to reconnect with ancestral spiritualities And still other people are born into religiously mixed families Jewish Christian intermarriage led the way in the US but religious diversity here is only increasing almost four in ten Americans 39 percent who have married since 2010 have a spouse who is in a different religious group Through in depth conversations with spiritually fluid people renowned scholar Duane Bidwell explores how people come to claim and be claimed by multiple religious traditions how spiritually fluid people engage radically opposed truth claims and what this growing population tells us about change within our communities

Shalom, the Spirit and Pentecostal Conversion Grace Milton, 2015-08-17 In Shalom the Spirit and Pentecostal Conversion Grace Milton presents a uniquely practical theological model of Pentecostal conversion centered on empirical data from a congregational case study Pentecostal Charismatic conversion is commonly equated with a dramatic Damascus road type event which directly opposes prevailing theories within the social sciences that conversion is a more gradual process over time This raises the question how far do these Pentecostal stereotypes reflect lived experience In this book for the first time the experiences and beliefs of ordinary Pentecostal believers are drawn into conversation with conversion theories from the human sciences sociology psychology and anthropology and theology The result is a distinctly Pentecostal model of conversion which interprets religious transformation through the theological lens of Shalom

R. Miller, 2013 This title brings together the category of religion hip hop cultural modalities and the demographic of youth Bringing postmodern theory and critical approaches in the study of religion to bear on hip hop cultural practices the book examines how scholars have deployed and approached religion when analyzing hip hop data Religion within the Limits of History Alone Demian Wheeler, 2020-09-01 Among the greatest challenges facing religious thinkers today is that created by historicism the notion that human beings and their myriad understandings of reality are utterly historical conditioned by contingent circumstances and tied to particular contexts In this book Demian Wheeler confronts the historicist challenge by delineating and defending a particular trajectory of historicist thought known as pragmatic historicism Rooted in the German Enlightenment and fully developed within the early Chicago school of theology pragmatic historicism is a predominantly American tradition that was philosophically nurtured by classical pragmatism and its intellectual siblings naturalism and radical empiricism Religion within the Limits of History Alone not only undertakes a detailed genealogy of this pragmatic historicist lineage but also sets forth a constructive program for contemporary theology by charting a path for its future development Wheeler shows that pragmatic historicism is an underdeveloped resource for contemporary theology since it offers a model for normative religious thought that is theologically compelling yet wholly nonsupernaturalistic deeply pluralistic unflinchingly liberal and radically historicist

Theology in Built Environments Sigurd Bergmann, 2017-07-12 Built space is both a physical entity as well as a socially and historically constructed place It constantly interacts with human beings affecting their behavior thinking and feeling Doing religious work in a particular environment implies acknowledging the surroundings to be integral to theology itself The contributors to this volume view buildings scriptures conversations prayers preaching artifacts music and drama and built and natural surroundings as contributors to a contextual theology The view of the environment in which religion is practiced as integrated with theology represents not just a new theme but also a necessity if one is to understand religion's own depth Reflections about space and place and how they reflect and affect religious experience provide a challenge and an urgent necessity for theology This is particularly important if religious practitioners are to become aware of how theology is given expression in the existential spatiality of life Can space set theology free This is a challenging question one that the editor hopes can be answered at least in part in this volume The diversity of theoretical concepts in aesthetics cultural theory and architecture are not regarded as a problem to be solved by constructing one overarching dominant theory Instead this diversity is viewed in terms of its positive potential to inspire discourse about theology and aesthetics In this discourse theology does not need to become fully dependent on one or another theory but should always clearly present its criteria for choosing this or that theoretical framework This volume shows clearly how different modes of design in sacred spaces capture a sense of the religious
