Joint Publications Research Service, 1962 Eastern Europe 1945-1969 Ben Fowkes, 2014-05-12 Here is an essential short guide to the history of Eastern Europe under the early decades of communist rule The study explores the communists attempt to transpose a uniform economic and social system across the region copied from the Soviet model Dr Fowkes shows how this did not always succeed and he reveals the local variations which became more pronounced after the death of Stalin The book includes detailed analysis of the dramatic events in Poland and Hungary and in the assessment section there is a useful summary of the strengths and weaknesses of the communist model in its heyday It is an illuminating study full of maps and photographs as well as over 30 documents most previously unavailable in English which brings this complex subject alive and helps us to understand the special conditions the people of the region have faced in catching up with the West both in terms of material prosperity and more recently in the establishment of democratic political systems Tito's Communism. - (Denver): The Univ. of Denver Pr.(1951). VIII, 368 S. 8° Josef Korbel, 1951 SCOTT copy 1 From the John Holmes Library collection Problems of Communism ,1955 Constructing Yugoslavia Vesna Drapac, 2010-01-27 Vesna Drapac provides an insightful survey of the changing nature of the Yugoslav ideal demonstrating why Yugoslavism was championed at different times and by whom and how it was constructed in the minds of outside observers Covering the period from the 1850s to the death of Tito in 1980 Drapac situates Yugoslavia in the broader international context and examines its history within the more familiar story of Europe in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries This approachable study also explores key themes and debates including The place of the nation state within the worldview of nineteenth century intellectuals The memory of war and commemorative practices in the interwar years Resistance and collaboration The nature of dictatorships Gender and citizenship Yugoslavia s role from the perspective of the Superpowers Drawing on a wide range of sources in order to recreate the atmosphere of the period Constructing Yugoslavia traces the formation of popular perceptions of Yugoslavia and their impact on policy toward Yugoslavs It is essential reading for anyone with an interest in the history of this fascinating nation and its ultimate demise

Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand, 2014-07-21 The devastation of World War II left the Yugoslavian capital of Belgrade in ruins Communist Party leader Josip Broz Tito saw this as a golden opportunity to recreate the city through his own vision of socialism In Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand analyzes the unprecedented planning process called for by the new leader and the determination of planners to create an urban environment that would benefit all citizens Led first by architect Nikola Dobrovic and later by Milos Somborski planners blended the predominant school of European modernism and the socialist principles of efficient construction and space usage to produce a model for housing green space and working environments for the masses A major influence was modernist Le Corbusier and his Athens Charter published in 1943 which called for the total reconstruction of European cities transforming them into compact and verdant vertical cities unfettered by slumlords private interests and traffic congestion As Yugoslavia transitioned toward self management and market socialism the functionalist district of New Belgrade and its modern living were lauded as the model city of socialist man The glow of the utopian ideal would fade by the 1960s when market socialism had raised expectations for living standards and the government was eager for inhabitants to finance their own housing By 1972 a new master plan emerged under Aleksandar Dordevic fashioned with the assistance of American experts Espousing current theories about systems and rational process planning and using cutting edge computer technology the new plan left behind the dream for a functionalist Belgrade and instead focused on managing growth trends While the public resisted aspects of the new planning approach that seemed contrary to socialist values it embraced the idea of a decentralized city connected by mass transit Through extensive archival research and personal interviews with participants in the planning process Le Normand's comprehensive study documents the evolution of New Belgrade and its adoption and ultimate rejection of modernist principles while also situating it within larger continental and global contexts of politics economics and urban planning Congressional Record United States.
